NOMINEES GET IN THEIR LAST
VOTE APPEALSDEWEY - ROOSEVELT
FEUD REACHES CLIMAX

BY WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

President Roosevelt accused his opponent of "distortion," "falsehood," and stirring "racial and religious intolerance" last (Saturday) night while Governor Dewey said the war is being prolonged by the president's "confused incompetence."

In that free-swing fashion, the two candidates wound up their electioneering with addresses in two key eastern states. The president's speech was for a throng at Boston's Fenway Park. Dewey's for a party rally in New York's Madison Square Garden.

From Boston, the president headed for his Hyde Park, N. Y., home to vote and await the election returns. Dewey planned to spend Monday in Albany, but will return to New York City to vote.

Fifty Million Votes

Both candidates plan election eve messages, but last night's speeches were their final major appeals of the campaign.

In his prepared speech, the president asked for at least 50,000,000 votes on Tuesday and accused the Republican party of working "both sides of the street."

"Never before in my lifetime has a campaign been filled with such misrepresentation, distortion and falsehood," he declared, and added that never since 1928 "have there been so many attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance."

Continuing his practice of not calling Dewey by name, the president said a Republican candidate asserted that the Communists "are seizing control of the New Deal" and on the same day asked to be elected to remove "the threat of monarchy" in this country.

That was, the president said, "an amazing demonstration of talking out of both sides of the mouth."

Blunder Prologs War

In his prepared speech, Dewey declared that President Roosevelt's "own confused incompetence" was prolonging the war in Europe.

He asked what had happened since Sept. 1 to upset General Dwight D. Eisenhower's prediction that Germany could be beaten this year, and gave his own answer.

"As good as 10 fresh German divisions," Dewey asserted, was publication of what he called Secretary Morgenthau's "clumsy" plan. The treasury secretary is reported to have proposed that Germany be reduced to an agricultural nation.

"It stiffened the will of the German nation to resist," Dewey declared. "Almost overnight, the headlong retreat of the Germans stopped. They stood and fought fanatically."

Dewey said that while President Roosevelt "finally dropped" the plan, "the damage was done."

En route to Boston, and again in his speech there, President Roosevelt gave his reply to those who have accused him of breaking a 1940 promise that American boys would not be sent into foreign wars.

Fiddlers For Truman

In that campaign, he said, during a stop at Springfield, Mass., "we had the stern resolve x x x that we would not send our boys to fight abroad unless we were attacked. The attack came—treacherous, deadly attack."

The president also stopped for

issued by Matthew Smith, president of the Mechanical Educational Society. Workers in 24 other plants had been ordered to leave their jobs.

Army Takes Over 7
Striking Warplants

Detroit, Nov. 4 (AP)—The army today took over seven Toledo warplants and the shell division of another because, an army officer asserted, strikes have "stopped the line of munition, guns, trucks and tanks to General Eisenhower and General MacArthur."

Immediately following the seizure, Matthew Smith, general secretary of the unaffiliated Mechanical Educational Society of America, called the Toledo strikes as well as others in Detroit, summoned a meeting of his organization's executive committee.

He declined to say what action might be taken at the committee meeting which he described as a "huddle."

"We are aware that it is against the law to agitate work stoppages in plants seized by the government," he said.

The plants taken over today were Baker Brothers, Great Lakes Stamping Co., Ohio Tool and Die Co., Inshell Products Co., Crescent Engineering Corp., Toledo Steel Tube Co., Wayne Metal Products Co., and the shell division of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.

They were among 52 plants in the Detroit and Toledo area affected by the MESA strike order called in a jurisdictional dispute between that organization and the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

Rome, Nov. 4 (AP)—British troops and Greek Patriots have driven the Germans completely from Greece in a whirlwind campaign that was little less speedy than the lightning Nazi conquest of 1941, Allied headquarters announced today.

An RAF officer said it was believed the last German rearguard crossed over into Yugoslavia Thursday night—38 days after British troops landed on the rocky western coast of the Peloponnese September 26. It took the Germans 27 days to overrun the little country in the spring of 1941.

An Allied announcement today said additional British troops had landed near Salonika, which previously was freed by Patriots and other Tommies moving up to the northern Greek port by land, and these forces reported also that no German troops remained on the mainland except a few stragglers.

Tonight the Germans, who may never get back to the fatherland in view of the strong Yugoslav and Russian army positions in Yugoslavia, were still on the run out of Albania and Serbia.

The reconquest of Greece ended three years and six months of Nazi rule during which it was estimated 500,000 Greeks died from starvation, executions and mistreatment.

Judge Sentences
31 In Ford Thefts

Detroit, Nov. 4 (AP)—Federal Judge Ernest A. O'Brien today sentenced 14 more persons in connection with the $10,000,000 parts theft conspiracy at the Ford Motor Co. in 1941, bringing to 31 the two-day total of sentences in the case.

The sentences ranged up to three years and fines up to $5,000. All the defendants pleaded guilty.

GROESBECK HITS
PENNY PINCHINGFormer Governor Quits
Civil Service Post;
Kelly Considers

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—Former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck today tendered his resignation from the state civil service commission to Governor Kelly and the governor immediately announced he would not act upon it until he could learn more about what prompted it.

In a letter to Governor Kelly, Groesbeck asserted that he had been unable to go along with the commission's "penurious and penny-pinching attitude toward state employees," and added:

"There is no possible excuse for this situation especially in view of the fact that the state has been collecting large and in some instances excessive revenues from the public."

Declaring that the resignation came to him as "a complete surprise," Governor Kelly said:

"I am not acting upon this matter further today until I get a further report."

He added that he had taken the position that the commission should not be interfered with. "The constitution," he said, "gives the commission complete and exclusive authority over all personnel transactions."

Groesbeck last week engaged in a vigorous controversy with the commission over the authorization it gave the state highway department to employ Fisher L. Layton in a non-civil service job. After the commission's action, requested by Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, Groesbeck charged that Ziegler was "making a monkey of the commission."

Woman And Son Die
In Auto Collision;
Five Badly Injured

Grant, Nov. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Duffing, 32, of Baldwin, and her 13-year-old son, William, died, and five others, including three members of her family, were injured tonight when two cars collided head-on in Grant.

The boy was killed instantly. Mrs. Duffing died shortly after being admitted to Butterworth hospital in Grand Rapids.

Her husband, Robert Duffing, Sr., 32, Baldwin contractor; their daughter, Charlette, 2, and their six-month-old daughter, Sharon, were also injured. Sharon is not expected to live.

William Oldham, 55, and his wife, Hazel, 52, occupants of the other car, were also injured. Mrs. Oldham critically.

Britons Cheer As
Guns Knock Down
Nazi Robot Bombs

London, Sunday, Nov. 5 (AP)—London had a flying bomb alert last night, the first since early last Tuesday when two warnings were sounded.

Residents of one east coast town gathered in the streets cheering and counting as gunners knocked flying bombs into the sea. A fighter plane shot down another robot caught in the glare of searchlight batteries.

BATTLE NEARS
END TO FREE
DUTCH ISLANDNAZIS SURROUNDED;
YANKS HOLD GAIN
BELOW AACHEN

BY THOBURN WIAINT

London, Sunday, Nov. 5 (AP)—American troops, although driven back from the high water mark of their invasion of the Reich, the town of Schmidt, held their lines to the north firmly last night while Allied troops in southwestern Holland plunged ahead and the German radio said the battle of Walcheren Island was near its end.

The doughboys scrambled out of Schmidt, 15 miles southeast of Aachen, under pressure by German infantry and tanks, but a few minutes after their withdrawal swarms of U. S. divebombers flattened the town, leaving, according to a frontline dispatch, the walls of only two houses standing.

No Hope For Huns

A few thousand enemy troops still were fighting on Walcheren, but with the Allies advancing on all sides of them and their main route of escape flooded, they could only swim, surrender or die. U. S. infantrymen in eastern Holland, defying mud and mortars, plowed ahead more than two miles and recaptured Ospel, 16 miles southeast of the Allied base at Eindhoven, thereby erasing almost all the gains gained out by the abortive enemy offensive a week ago.

Maintaining a mile-a-day clip, the U. S. Seventh and French First armies in the Vosges fought on east through the mountains, deepening a wedge driven into German lines blocking the way to the two vital passes of Bussang and Schlucht. Five hundred prisoners were seized yesterday.

Lines Hold Firm

The first German counter-attack on the First army front was broken, but the enemy came back a second time with tanks and shovels and the Americans out of Schmidt and back to positions about a half mile west, a front dispatch said.

Later in the day the Germans mounted a third attack northwest of the town, supported by at least ten tanks. But the Americans held firm at Vossnach, two miles north, and in their lines before Hurtgen, to the north. Seven enemy tanks were destroyed.

Allied fighter bombers hammered German infantry and tanks while medium bombers prowled the Rhine valley to the east, attacking enemy communication lines.

German lines along the Mark River five miles south of the Maas were crumbling fast, as the Poles threw two more bridgeheads across, captured Terheyden, and fought two miles northward, capturing Wageningen within three miles of the Maas.

Three miles east, Den Hout, also three miles from the Maas, likewise fell. Americans, British and Canadians to the west vaulted the water barriers and deepened bridgeheads.

In gains of up to two miles, Americans and British striking out from their bridgeheads on the Mark River seized Fijnaart, 4½ miles south of the Willemstad ferry, a second main enemy route of retreat, and pressed on north a half mile, well within artillery range.

British Checked

Canadians pounding up on the west captured Steenbergen, nine miles southwest of Willemstad, and broke across the river of the same name. They were within two miles of the Maas outlet here.

On the extreme west, in occupying Nieuw Vossemeer and Kladike opposite the reconquered Dutch

Fighting Men Get
Hot Election News

U. S. Third Army Headquarters, France, Nov. 4 (AP)—Most of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army soldiers will be asleep while the home folks are getting the returns from the presidential election Tuesday, but they will get the reports by radio and army news sheets with their breakfast Wednesday.

Interest in the outcome does not appear to be intense, either along the static front or among rear echelons, but tens of thousands of soldier votes have been cast.

Rome, Nov. 4 (AP)—American soldiers on the Italian front, more concerned with keeping warm than with the presidential election, will get the returns Wednesday by troop newspapers and radios which are all set to get the news to them in a hurry.

The army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, plans an extra and has asked for facilities to fly copies to the front.

It's Time For A Change

(An Editorial)

The people of the United States of America will determine by their votes on Tuesday whether old-fashioned honesty shall be substituted for mere political showmanship, in the office of president of this nation.

President Roosevelt has proven by his performance in the office of president for 12 years that in his direct dealings with the people of the United States, he thinks and acts first, always, in terms of political effect. For the mere pleasure of winning applause, he is led to make promises that are only the acts of a great showman, designed, wholly, to throw the galleries into an uproar.

When President Roosevelt was greeted in Chicago, only a week ago, by the greatest throng of people ever attracted to a political gathering in that city, he glibly promised his audience that after the war, he would create sixty million jobs. He might just as well have set his job creating ability at seventy-five or a hundred million. It was all just a part of the show.

The record shows that about the only jobs created by the New Deal administration, headed by Mr. Roosevelt in the peace days before the war, were either on the public payrolls or on the W.P.A. It took a war to provide jobs in private employment for ten million men who were still idle, after eight years of New Deal's futile effort.

It was certainly only for political effect that on the eve of the last presidential election, in the city of Boston, Oct. 30, 1940, that President Roosevelt voiced these words, carried over the radio to every home in the land: "And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers, I give you one more assurance. I have said it before but I shall say it again, and again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars."

If that statement was mere showmanship, it was showmanship carried too far.

That promise was made to get votes and the president knew it.

Records that have been revealed in recent months show that at the very moment he was uttering that promise, he was in a position to know and should have known, if he didn't, that there was grave danger of an attack upon this nation by Japan. The letters of Joseph Grew, United States ambassador to Japan, at that time prove that the administration at Washington had been fully warned.

IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE.

Red Troops Batter
At Budapest Gates

BY W. W. HERSCHER

London, Nov. 4 (AP)—Russian tank forces battered at the gates of shell-swept Budapest today as the Soviet troops 50 miles to the southeast toppled the Tisza River stronghold of Szolnok in a great wheeling movement on the impregnable Hungarian capital.

Premier-Marshall Joseph Stalin announced in an order of the day the fall of Szolnok on the double-track railway into Budapest. The Germans were sent reeling northward, their direct escape route into the capital severed. Forty more Hungarian localities were seized, the Soviet bulletin said.

Berlin announced that the Russians temporarily had seized Vecses and Ulló, only five and eight miles southeast of Budapest, but said they were then thrown out of those rail towns in fierce counterattacks.

French radio broadcasts said Red army tank spearheads already had broken into Budapest's suburbs, but this was not confirmed by Moscow. However, dispatches from the Soviet capital and Berlin broadcasts said Russian artillery and planes were pumping explosives into the capital.

A Budapest dispatch relayed by Berlin said Soviet planes roared constantly over the Danube city, bombing and machinegunning streets clogged with German troops, tank and gun columns and knots of frantic civilians.

Long caravans of vehicles jammed with fugitives and their scanty possessions flowed westward across the Danube bridges out of the city as German reinforcements passed them enroute to the battle line in the city's outskirts, the broadcast said.

"Other districts of the city, however, seem almost deserted," said the Nazi agency's report. "Many are staying indoors except for some dozens of queues before bread and tobacco shops."

The plane was burning when discovered by Harold Anderson, a farmer, the sheriff said.

Anderson said parts of an airplane fell about him. Then he saw the plane burning about a half mile away.

Transcontinental & Western Air officials at St. Francisco reported that one of their regular passenger planes, last heard from near Hanford, was overdue at Burbank, Calif., airfield.

They said the plane was regular Flight No. 8. The captain was A. T. Bethel; first officer, G. E. Smith, and hostess, Miss Ruth Miller, all of Burbank, TWA officials said.

The plane was enroute from San Francisco to Burbank.

The bodies were scattered from 100 to 200 feet apart, most of the clothes ripped from them, Sheriff Clyde said.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene from Hanford, and from the LeMoore airbase, 20 miles west. Sheriff Clyde said that there was no indication of the cause of the accident. It was raining at the time, he reported.

Over 5,000 Allied
Planes Give Reich
7-Barrelled Blitz

London, Nov. 4 (AP)—More than 5,000 Allied planes gave Germany a seven-barrelled aerial blitz today, smashing at eleven Reich industrial cities and pouncing on Nazi troops along the western front in day and night assaults.

The big day was rounded out by the attack tonight of more than 1,000 RAF heavy bombers against Bochum, important industrial city in the Ruhr.

During the day American heavyweights on widespread big-scale raids met no opposition from the Luftwaffe.

KEY CARIGARA
BAY ATTACKED
BY AMERICANSU. S. AIRMEN WIPE
OUT OVER 67
JAP PLANES

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Sunday, Nov. 5 (AP)—The American 24th division has commenced a land and over-water assault against Panamopan, key Carigara bay town at the northern terminus of the Ormoc valley highway, headquarters reported today.

The enemy has prepared "hasty defensive positions" in the hills fronting the plains north of American-encircled Ormoc, key port on Leyte's west coast, the statement added.

The Japanese are attempting to protect their last foothold on Leyte, around Ormoc.

Convoys Strafed

American forces "bloodily" repulsed an enemy counterattack at Capocan, midway between American-held Carigara and Panamopan, seven miles westward along Carigara bay.

American fighters continued low-level strafing attacks on enemy motorized convoys rolling northward from Ormoc, along the valley highway. Planes yesterday heavily assaulted a 10-mile long

SCOR 67 TO 4

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Sunday, Nov. 5 (AP)—Fifty-seven Japanese planes were wiped out on the ground and 10 more shot down in sky battles as American planes stepped up their attacks on Cebu and Negros islands west of Leyte, headquarters announced today.

Ten more Nipponese aircraft probably were erased on the ground, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported in a communique on aerial action supplementing his daily one on the ground offensive.

Leyte-based fighters of the 49th squadron, Far Eastern Airforce, which have downed more than 500 enemy planes since the start of the war, tore into airdromes on the two islands at treetop level. The attack cost four American planes.

convoy, composed of newly-arrived Japanese reinforcements, hurrying northward in an apparent attempt to bulwark the crumbling imperial lines on Carigara bay.

The new aerial attacks forced "continual dispersal of troops and vehicles," said the communique, and effectively prevented organized movement along the highway.

Replacements Rushed

The Japanese have lost "heavily in armored vehicles, trucks and artillery landed as part of his latest reinforcements," the announcement added.

American forces also repulsed night infiltration attempts by Japanese west of Dagami, in the central Leyte valley.

Enemy air attacks were limited to persistent "night harassing raids against shore installations, causing moderate damage." One Japanese fighter plane was shot down.

Japanese reinforcements landed on Leyte island indicated today the Nipponese will bitterly and bloodily dispute Gen. Douglas MacArthur's belief that the end of the Leyte-Samar campaign in the Philippines is in sight.

Using transports and barges, the enemy at great cost is defying American air and sea might to land replacements at Ormoc, on the island's west central coast.

Increased Japanese air activity dealt blows at American installations.

Casualties Total
116,150 In Italy;
Mud Slows Battle

Rome, Nov. 14 (AP)—The muddy battle line in Italy barely moved today, but behind it Allied engineers were performing prodigies of road and bridge building to keep open the lines of supply and communications for the forward troops.

Rope bridges, assault boats and ferries are being used to supply troops in some places on the front, which stretches across some of the most forbidding Apennine peaks into marshy ground in the southeastern corner of the Po River plain.

It was announced officially that Allied casualties from May 11, start of the big push that took Rome, to Nov. 4 were 116,150.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—Lusty cries are coming from the four little Ciriminellos born at the Lying-in hospital Wednesday and the latest hospital bulletin reports "Things are really progressing very well."

Michael, weakest and last born of the quadruplets, is beginning to catch up with his huskier sisters—still known only as A, B and C.

Their mother, attractive, petite, Kathleen Ciriminello, is making a "normal recovery," the hospital said, and her husband, Joseph, predicts she'll feel up to naming the girls in a day or two. She will not be able to see them until she is strong enough to walk to their room.

FIFTY MILLION VOTES WANTED

Roosevelt Anxious To Win Because Of Falsehoods

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL.
Boston, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt called tonight for at least 50,000,000 votes on Tuesday and declared himself anxious to win because "never before in my lifetime has a campaign been filled with such misrepresentation, distortion and falsehood."
In the final major address of his fourth-term campaign, to a crowd assembled in Fenway Park, Mr. Roosevelt declared that never since 1928 "have there been so many attempts to stimulate in America racial or religious intolerance."
He pronounced the American people competent to judge a political party which he described as working "both sides of the street." Mr. Roosevelt came to Boston at

Record Vote Is Foreseen For Michigan

Detroit, Nov. 4. (AP)—Republicans and Democrats were putting the finishing touches tonight on energetic campaigns that each party hoped would give it the edge when the expected outpouring of votes in Tuesday's general election in Michigan is tallied.
With a native son the Republican standard bearer in the presidential race and with Political Action agencies waging an unceasing drive to get out a record vote in normally Democratic industrial districts that make up populous metropolitan Detroit, Michigan has been a national focus of expert political attention.
Experts Stumped
War injected so many imponderable factors into the situation, however, that virtually every expert has hedged in predicting the ballot-box outcome in the state. Wartime population shifts, combined with the physical difficulty of registering new and absentee voters, including service men, and the uncertainty of wartime voting reactions added to the prognosticators' difficulties.
Early in the campaign Republican presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey paid a brief visit to his boyhood home in Owosso. President Roosevelt did not come to Michigan, but his running mate, U. S. Sen. Harry S. Truman, made a quick speaking tour of Labor Day rallies in the state and Vice President Henry Wallace stumped Michigan more recently in the president's behalf. Dewey's running mate, Ohio's Governor John W. Bricker, appeared in the New York governor's behalf, speaking in some cases from the same platforms that had served Wallace for a rostrum.
Republicans On Inside
Registration figures in Michigan population centers soared far above the marks for 1940, a year in which many of the cities had established new all-time voting records. The legislature acted Friday at the eleventh hour, to permit local election boards to keep booths open until 10 p. m., local time, if necessary to accommodate the anticipated voting rush.
Republicans, entrenched in state administrative offices, the legislature, the senate and in 12 of the state's 17 congressional seats, hope to extend their hold. They delivered the state's electoral vote to Wendell L. Willkie four years ago and expected to give it to Dewey in 1944.
Democrats have pinned their hopes to President Roosevelt and to record registration figures in which they see a prospect of enthusiastic support for his wartime administration.
Governor Kelly, seeking re-election, tops the Michigan Republican ticket. His running mates are Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, Treasurer D. Hale Brake and Secretary of State Herman H. Dignam, seeking re-election. John D. Morrison of Marquette for auditor general and Republican State Chairman John R. Dethmers for auditor general.

Hook Tries Again
Edward J. Fry is the Democratic candidate for governor. Others on the Democratic state ticket are James H. Lee, assistant Detroit corporation counsel, for lieutenant governor, Mrs. Minnie Schwinger for state treasurer, Arthur A. Kosinski for secretary of state, Thurman B. Doyle for attorney general and Clark J. Adams for auditor general.

Democrats have put up a strong fight to extend their representation in Michigan's congressional delegation. Vigorous contests have developed in the 12th district, where Clarence J. McLeod, an eight-term Republican veteran, is challenging incumbent Rep. George D. O'Brien, Democrat who unseated him; in the fourth, home of Republican Rep. Clare E. Hoffman; in the twelfth, where Democrats seek to return former Congressman Frank E. Hook to the seat of incumbent Rep. John B. Bennett; and in the sixth, where former State Senator Robert B. McLaughlin, a Democrat, is seeking to unseat Republican Rep. William W. Blackney.
Democrats hope to extend their representation in the state house of representatives, where reapportionment has given Detroit 21 instead of 17 seats, but concede Republicans will retain control of both legislative branches.
The ballot also lists four proposed constitutional amendments: No. 1, To permit cities to furnish more water to suburban areas; No. 2, To enable members of the legislature to retain their seats while running for administrative offices; No. 3, To increase the pay of state legislators from $3 to $5 a day the year around during their two-year term; No. 4, A "home rule" amendment which would permit Wayne county to change its form of government.

KEY CARIGARA BAY ATTACKED BY AMERICANS

tions and shipping, both MacArthur and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported yesterday.
Carrier Group Attacked
Nimitz announced Japanese planes damaged "several ships" in an aircraft carrier group of the Third U. S. fleet. He did not say where the attacks occurred. Ten of the enemy planes were shot down.
MacArthur said the Japanese made 35 low-level air sallies against docks and installations on Leyte's east coast, blowing up an ammunition dump and setting a merchant ship afire. The Nipponese paid with 10 planes. One American plane was lost.
The Japanese at Ormoc, under the lash of American aircraft fire, also must meet the thrusts of two overwhelming Yank forces operating north and south toward the enemy-held town.
Following MacArthur's Friday announcement that the end of the Leyte-Samar campaign was nearing, the Japanese sent a convoy of four ships with protecting planes and destroyers into Ormoc bay.
American airmen hit the convoy, sinking two transports and downing 23 enemy planes. But the two other ships succeeded in putting Japanese soldiers and equipment ashore Wednesday night.

short speeches in Bridgeport and Hartford, Conn.
Senator Harry S. Truman's home state supporters arranged an old settlers reunion and a fiddlers' contest for the Democratic vice presidential candidate's campaign wind-up at Independence, Mo.
Truman's speech was an appeal to "send Franklin D. Roosevelt to the peace table" and "not betray American boys who have made the greatest sacrifice a man can make for his country."
Gov. John W. Bricker, concluding his campaign in Ohio which three times elected him its chief executive, chose Cleveland for his closing speech. The Ohio metropolis has been a Democratic stronghold in recent presidential elections.

Alf M. Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential candidate, also accused the administration of prolonging the war. In a speech prepared for a party gathering at Oakland, Neb., he asserted that the China situation "along with Morgenthau's ghastly plan has prolonged the war many months and cost many thousands of needless casualties."
Other political developments: Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, showed reporters in New York a photograph of Gov. Dewey. Hillman said it was taken at a 1937 mass meeting in honor of Louis Weinstock. Weinstock is now a member of the executive board of the National Communist political association, formed last May.
Weinstock turned the photograph over to the CIO-PAC, Hillman said, with the comment that he was "simply fed up with the vicious drive and anti-Communist filth that is now being circulated by this same Mr. Dewey."
The Senate campaign expenditures committee sent an investigator to Montana at the request of Senator James E. Murray, Montana Democrat. Chairman Green (D-RI) said Murray alleged that Republicans were making "lavish expenditures" and that "misconduct on the part of election officials already indicated that serious efforts would be made to falsify the returns."

radio Monday and said a change in administrations would delay winning the war.
Dewey began his final speaking tour at Buffalo Tuesday, calling the president's promises of postwar prosperity "bogus" and "worthless" on the basis of the president's peacetime record. He moved on to Boston Wednesday, assailing what he called the New Deal's "cynical alliance" with Communists, and hit that same theme in a speech at Baltimore next day. Going back to Albany from Baltimore, he struck out in speeches at Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, Pa., at the "one thousand club."
The president, speaking by radio Thursday night from the White House, covered in broad range most of the arguments of the campaign with emphasis on continuing what he termed the president "teamwork" to win the war and carry out plans he said already were made for meeting postwar problems.

AUCTIONED OFF
Sault Ste. Marie—An even $15,000 worth of county land was bid in at the conservation sale held Tuesday in the court house, according to John Anguilin, conservation officer. Anguilin said that this is three times as much as has ever been received at a sale here, the previous high being about $5,000. He also estimated that at least 40 per cent more buyers attended the sale than have ever attended before.
Auctioneer was Charles Miller of Lansing, assistant chief of the lands division of the conservation department. His assistant was Luke Jankowski, land executive of the department.
None of the money taken in at the sale, he said is kept by the department, but is turned in to the general fund of the state, which in turn allocates it to the various townships or school districts in which the auctioned land lies.

DEWEY SCORES 'CLUMSY' PLANS

Morgenthau Blamed For Prolonging War In Europe

BY GARDNER BRIDGE
New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Declaring President Roosevelt's "own confused incompetence" has prolonged the war in Europe, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey demanded tonight to know what has happened since Sept. 1 to upset Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's prediction that Germany could be beaten this year.
Publication of Treasury Secretary's Morgenthau's "clumsy" plan, reputedly calling for the reduction of Germany to an industrially-impotent state and for disposing of the German people after the war, Dewey declared, "was as good as 10 fresh German divisions."
"It put fight back into the German army," the Republican presidential nominee asserted in a partial text prepared for an address at a Madison Square Garden rally.

"It stiffened the will of the German nation to resist. Almost overnight, the headlong retreat of the Germans stopped. They stood and fought fanatically."
Dewey referred to the Morgenthau plan as it was outlined in reports in connection with the recent Quebec conference between Mr. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.
The plan, which the Republican nominee had said called for the "destruction" of the German people, was "so clumsy that Mr. Roosevelt himself dropped it," Dewey declared, "but the damage was done."

DEER HUNTERS GET SERVICE

3 Ferries Will Run At Straits Beginning November 10

Lansing. (P)—The state highway department today announced plans to relieve the monotony of motorists waiting in line at the Straits of Mackinac for ferry service during the deer hunting season.

The department said three ferries will go in service Nov. 10, providing a boat leaving Mackinaw City approximately every 40 minutes on a 24-hour basis.

Trucks loaded with perishable goods and cars carrying women and children not on hunting trips will not be forced to wait in line with hunters, the department said. Hunters will be informed how long they must wait for service by means of signs placed along the ferry docks and adjacent highways.

The department said it had granted permission for private vendors to sell doughnuts and coffee to hunters waiting in line.

Municipal Election of 1884 Hotly Contested

BY JOHN P. NORTON

Although no particular issues were involved, Escanaba's annual municipal election, in the spring of 1884, was hotly contested. Col. VanDuser editor of the Iron Port in those early days, was not given to after election analysis, but following the spring contest of '84 he did say: Charlie Koesterer, considering that he had no nomination to start with, made a creditable run for city clerk and at least made Morrell get out and work.

Emil C. Wickert was not far behind Greenhoot for treasurer and might possibly have "got there" had he worked as faithfully as Solomon: Lott, in the second ward, ran Glavin a close race for school inspector; there was a doubt, until the votes were counted, whether Preston or Stonehouse was alderman for the first ward and there were other "close calls." For street commissioner there were four candidates, Tyrell, the incumbent, Beach, Valentine and Schimberg. Had anyone of the three last named made the fight alone, Tyrell might have been beaten; with three in the field, thus dividing the opposition, he won easily.

That early Escanaba editor evidently did not believe that the tabulation of the vote given to each candidate in an election was amatter of public information, so he announced the result of the voting in '84 as follows: "The city election was a hotly contested affair and resulted in the choice of James H. Tracy, for mayor, re-elected; Robert E. Morrell, for clerk, re-elected; Solomon Greenhoot for treasurer, re-elected; George McCarthy for marshal, re-elected and Daniel Tyrell for street commissioner, re-elected. For Justice of the peace Emil Glaser was elected for the full term, Philander B. West for the three year vacancy and Timothy E. Connolly for the one year vacancy. In the first ward Gustave E. Baehrisch was chosen supervisor, George Preston alderman, Richard Mason school inspector and Henry McFall, constable. The second ward chose Charles E. Brotherton, supervisor, James Robertson, alderman, Dennis Glavin, school inspector and John A. Fisher, constable. The third ward chose Peter M. Peterson, supervisor, John Dineen alderman, William Manley school inspector and Thomas Okerland constable. The fourth ward elected Samuel Stonehouse, supervisor, Justin N. Mead, school inspector and Columbus J. Provo constable.

On the same date the city election was held here, the townships of Delta county named new sets of town officers. In Bay de Noc (then spelled "Noquette") township an unusual development occurred at that election when Ole

BOGUS COUPONS FOUND IN U. P.

Illegal Gas Stamps Are Discovered In Every County

Counterfeit gasoline coupons with a value in excess of 2,500 gallons have been discovered in the upper peninsula, with illicit coupons being reported in every county, the district office of the Office of Price Administration reported yesterday.

The illicit coupons have been accepted by gasoline stations within the past six weeks and were discovered at the regional verification center at Cleveland. Counterfeit stamps are still coming in, Lou Gregory, district enforcement officer, reported.

This is the first report of counterfeit coupons being discovered in any quantity in the upper peninsula. All are believed to have filtered into the peninsula from other areas.

Many of the counterfeit stamps are A-12 coupons, now invalid, and others are B-4 coupons. The coupons are dissimilar and do not appear to have been printed by a single illegal source. They are exceptionally good facsimiles of legitimate coupons, however.

The district office indicated that all such stamps received will be debited against ration bank accounts of the stations that accepted the coupons.

"Station operators must insist upon seeing coupon folders and to check the endorsement of stamps

Veterans Endorse County Clerk - Register of Deeds OHLEN

BECAUSE we sincerely and deeply appreciate the many fine things done us by "Ted" Ohlen . . our County Clerk and Register of Deeds . . we take this means of expressing our gratitude publicly.

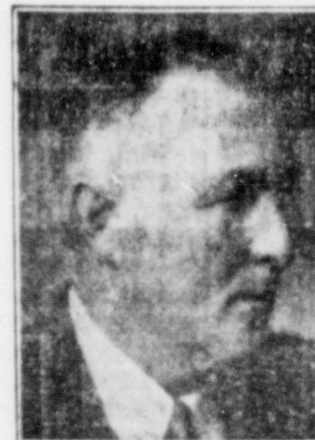

Though there is a quarter-century difference in our ages . . we are all Veterans . . of either World War I or II. Some of us older fellows fought in the same trenches that our younger GI Joes are fighting in today but . . we all have the same idea about "Ted" Ohlen . . a big help when a Veteran needs a hand .

Whenever we called on "Ted" . . whether for a birth certificate . . or if it was to have military discharge papers properly filed . . Ohlen was eager to handle our requests. And . . he did it efficiently . . courteously and quickly.

We found Ohlen willing and co-operative in any request made of him. He was never "too busy" to assist us. And we know too, of the many other services and helpful assistance he has given mothers . . fathers . . and wives of some of our Comrades who have been lost in action.

They . . and we . . want everyone in Delta County to know how we feel about "Ted" and that we sincerely endorse Ohlen as County Clerk and Register of Deeds. We urge you to re-elect Ohlen.

Must Await Facts

PROBABLY for reasons of security, the people of the United States are not supposed to know all of the facts that lie back of the removal of General Joseph W. Stillwell, as commander in chief of the American forces in the China-Burma-India war theater. About the only enlightening information on the matter has come from the Chinese foreign minister to this country, rather than from official Washington. China's minister, says that Gen. Stillwell has been recalled to this country because of his inability to work with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, but the American people can suspect that other and more potent reasons backed the drastic action that has been taken.

Gen. Stillwell has been one of the most colorful figures, from an American standpoint, developed in World War II. According to the war correspondents on the China-Burma front it has been Gen. Stillwell and his American doughboys who have constituted the most potent force in battling the Jap hordes in that sector. There has been built about the American commander in chief in the China-Burma theater an aura of romance that has appealed strongly to the American people. Certainly more than the personal dislikes, developed between the leaders of two co-operating armies, will eventually be divulged as the cause for sending Gen. Stillwell home.

This affair has, unquestionably, seriously jarred the sensibilities of Americans have believed, up to this time, that the people of China have appreciated even the small measure of aid this nation has been able to give them in their dire national emergency.

It will be hoped that when the real facts are revealed, it does not develop that Britain's touchy India situation is not at the bottom of the Gen. Stillwell incident.

Late Election Returns

THE Escanaba Daily Press has always ways made a special effort to obtain complete coverage of the election news, and is making elaborate preparations for reporting the returns of next Tuesday's balloting.

Correspondents have been contacted in every precinct in Delta and surrounding counties and instructed to telephone the returns to the Press editorial rooms in Escanaba as soon as the returns are tabulated. In addition, the Press will have the special election news service of the Associated Press, which will cover Michigan and the nation.

With the fine cooperation received from its correspondents in the past, the Press is quite confident that it will carry the complete returns from Delta county in its regular edition Wednesday morning. But it now appears doubtful that the results of the presidential contest will be known as early as in previous elections.

Four nation-wide public opinion polls indicate that the race between Roosevelt and Dewey will be extremely close, with the votes of the few pivotal states deciding the outcome. The Gallup Poll, for instance, reports Dewey ahead in 22 states with 255 electoral votes; Roosevelt is leading in 21 states with 206 electoral votes; and the remaining five states with 70 electoral votes divided 50-50 between them. Newsweek magazine gives Roosevelt 249 electoral votes to Dewey's 247, and expects Pennsylvania's 35 votes to decide the election.

In the event of a close contest, however, the results may not be known for several days, which will be reminiscent of the Hughes-Wilson election in 1916 when the hot race in California kept the nation in suspense for two days. This year, absent voting by soldiers overseas may complicate the election news. California, for instance, will count G. I. ballots beginning Nov. 16 and will not announce the total until Dec. 16. Some other states will be counting as late as Dec. 7.

It's likely to be a long drawn-out and exciting election.

Bright Outlook

AN upper Peninsula community that bears every evidence of rapid development in the postwar period is Manistowick, where plans for extensive industrial expansion have already been announced.

The expansion of the Manistowick Tool and Manufacturing company to a potential employment of 500 persons, announced in mid-week, was followed by an announcement of another new industry to be established in that community by J. F. Kluit, of Detroit. It is rumored that the Kluit industry will manufacture toys and metalware. Still another new industry in the community is under negotiation and an announcement may be expected soon in this development.

Even before the development of these new industries, Manistowick held a formidable position from Upper Peninsula industrial standpoint. Such firms as the Inland Lime and Stone company, the Manistowick Pulp and Paper company, the Michigan Dimension company and the Northwoods Manufacturing company provided a sound basic employment record in the community over a period of years.

The expansion of industry in Manistowick brings up another factor that will provide even more jobs in the postwar period. That is the necessity for home construction there. Housing facilities for a number of workers are not now available and will have to be constructed. This building program obviously will provide many additional jobs.

A still another bright outlook for Manistowick is the inevitable expansion of the tourist industry in the postwar period. Manistowick is ideally situated to reap a harvest from the tourist trade and this industry has long been a major factor in the economic life of the community.

Home Rule Proposal

DURING the past several weeks, opponents of the Wayne county home rule proposal have been circulating much misinformation about the constitutional amendment plan.

While the source of these rumors is sometimes hard to discover, it is known that many of them come from the office-holding politicians throughout the state, who dread any attempt to create order and efficiency in the outmoded form of county government in this state.

Contrary to all the misunderstandings that have been created, here are the facts concerning Proposal No. 4. It will not affect any other county in Michigan. It will not change the government of any city, village, township or school district in Wayne or any other county. It will not make change in representation in the state legislature. It will not change any law pertaining to the taxes of the state or of any county or city.

Bonus for Dog Heroes

DOGS attached to our armed forces have performed a real and valuable service in this war. If they hadn't, the notoriously unsentimental Army and Navy would not have used them. Now many of these war dogs are being discharged.

Most of them will be returned to their owners, but some will be sold.

It probably will not be necessary to urge on a dog-loving nation the need for a "veteran rehabilitation" program for these K-9 veterans which Congress can't provide. Undoubtedly there will be more bidders than can be satisfied for these war dogs which, after a tour of strenuous duty, are now deserving of affection, catching, aw arm corner, and other comforts of a well-regulated canine existence.

But it might be well if communities where these dogs are brought should welcome them as graciously as have the city fathers of Jacksonville, Fla., who have waived license fees for K-9 heroes honorably discharged from service.

LAY THAT SHOOTER DOWN!

(Christian Science Monitor)

The United States has one secret weapon too many. When you wonder what hit you, it has already disappeared with its one-man crew. And though you are sure there's at least a bazooka in the neighborhood, there's not a thing to be seen, not even a small boy.

But somewhere in those bushes over there in front of the Joneses' house, or back of the Smiths' fence, a sniper hides and giggles, and then may be feels the sudden power conferred on him by modern research. With this weapon he could change the face of the world—if only he could hit the world on the back of the neck.

The potentialities of this equipment are recognized by Federal authorities. The OPA has succeeded in having the weapon suppressed. But such is the terroristic character of the invention that not even the United States Government would choose open battle with it, but resorted to diplomacy and legal technicalities, charging that it was wasting beans!

Well, that is a matter of opinion, according to certain crews who still have these new plastic bean shooters hidden out in the barn or up in the attic. Oh, oh—we've let it slip out, and without referring it to the censor's office! But that's what it is, a plastic bean shooter with some secret improvement that puts a wallop into it that only the Japanese who met the United States Navy the other day can appreciate.

As for the wasting of beans—your opinions on this question depend on at which end of the bean shooter you happen to be when the thing goes off.

KELLY DESERVES ANOTHER TERM

(Detroit Free Press)

Part of the reason that this year's contest for the Michigan governorship has created little furor is, of course, that it is overshadowed by the presidential race. Another part is that the opposition has found no vital issues with which to belabor the Kelly administration.

The reason for the latter, in turn, is not far to seek.

Harry F. Kelly has not been a spectacular governor, but he has been a good one. He has administered the State's affairs competently.

There have been minor first-term mistakes, but the best efforts of the opposition have not succeeded in inflating them to importance.

Kelly's appointments have been excellent. The tone of his administration has been progressive. The legislative scandals that blew the top off the Capitol Dome touched his office in no way.

When the opposition is unable to marshal a case against an incumbent, it is warrant that he has proved himself. The Free Press believes that Gov. Kelly's first term has earned him the right to a second.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

In these final days of the campaign, voters should be prepared for last-minute appeals by high officials, diplomatic and otherwise, to the effect that the United Nations will fall apart if Dewey is elected. It is well to remember that Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy made a telling speech for Roosevelt at the last minute, four years ago. It will also be well to remember that Mr. Kennedy urged people to vote for Roosevelt to keep us out of war.

This time it will not be Mr. Kennedy. And the theme will be different. The same President who permitted his Ambassador to assure isolationists that he wanted to help the President keep us out of war may now permit high officials to tell us to keep the President because our British and Russian relations depend on his knowledge and friendship. We will be told how dearly Uncle Joe loves the Squire of Hyde Park and how Uncle Joe will be very, very sad if his great buddy is defeated.

The way to appraise such frantic partisan appeals is to consider exactly what the diplomatic situation is among the Big Four of the United Nations. Russia, through Stalin, is winning her diplomatic victories by her armies. She has what she wants in Poland, in the Baltic States and in the Balkans. She will stand pat on these in peace negotiations. Her vast losses in the war and her tremendous power now will provide the basis for her moral and physical claim. There is nothing that President Roosevelt knows or can do to change that. And a realistic Stalin will deal with Mr. Dewey with complete confidence, just as he will deal with Mr. Roosevelt. Because his confidence rests not on faith in his Allies, but on faith in his armies. It is only the hysterical New Dealers who profess worry about him and they are not really worried about Stalin, but about their own jobs or position.

The fallacy of this story of the indispensable President is shown by what has happened in China. The picture we now get from such sound newspapermen as Brooks Atkinson of "The New York Times" and Preston Grover of "The Associated Press" presents a grim picture of friction and failure by Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin in China. It shows that Chiang's resistance to pressure to join forces with Communist armies became a matter of critical importance. Apparently, Chiang has been more concerned with maintaining his position as No. 1 War Lord than in playing the game with Messrs. Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt. And the whole effort is now revealed as a messy failure.

The globe-trotting Mr. Wallace came back from China and told us that we must please re-elect the President because the "Generalissimo" might not like to deal with a new President. We wonder what mistakes Mr. Dewey could make in dealing with Chiang that Mr. Roosevelt has not already made. It will be well to hold this election and cast our votes with reference to what is best for us, rather than by yielding to the entreaties of New Deal politicians to vote as our Allies wish. Such last-minute claims not only misrepresent Stalin, Chiang and Churchill, but deeply offend our own independence as Americans. This is an American election.

It won't be long till the candidates who are running on a bluff will fall over.

The Pilgrims celebrated with wild turkeys. The only wild thing for us will be the price.

A full month, announces the OPA, is "a period of consecutive days constituting a month." Thank goodness that's finally clear.

SUNDAY ROUNDUP

Los Angeles: A Hollywood gossip column declares that many gay parties are being given in a certain screen star's manse. All the "gay literatures" of movie town do the word wrong.—L. A. McD.

Answer: Strictly speaking, a manse is a residence furnished by a church for the minister and his family. In America, the customary term is: parsonage. In any event, screen stars do not live in manse, nor are manse the scene of gay parties, especially of the Hollywood variety.

Excelsior Springs: Will you give the correct pronunciation of the important name, SAIPAN. I have heard it mispronounced in a number of ways, but "say pain" takes the cake.—D. M.

Answer: The authorities are in agreement on: SA-PAHN, the first syllable rhyming with "by, my."

Brooklyn: Is it true that the name of Thomas Jefferson's house, Monticello, means "little mountain"?—Mrs. G. M. R.

Answer: Yes, it's Italian. The house, now a national monument, was so named because it was built on a mountain top in the Blue Ridge. First choice: MON-TI-SELL'oh. Second choice: MON-TI-CELL'oh.

Syracuse: Many broadcasters accent the word ENTIRE on the first syllable. Is it sanctioned?—W. H. P.

Answer: No. The second syllable receives the accent, thus: en-TIRE.

Mrs. G. C. B. of Los Angeles, sends a clipping that seems to indicate a queer transaction in Alaska: "Evidently the undies were part of the cold weather outfit Bob had turned in when he returned from the Aleutians which had been sold for rags."

Looks Like His Tail-Lashing Days Are Over

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

ESCAPE — There is so much pressing upon our minds for attention these days that it would be well for all of us to escape for at least one day the thought of war, of politics, and our deep concern over the future of our own country and of the peoples of the world.

Dunathan

There is no better place to find escape than in the world of the out-of-doors. There in seeing a h a n gelessness the envelope of the sky encloses us, tight-sealing our destiny, addressed to where? But does it make too much difference? The vast-doming sky brings wonderment and the realization that however important we become to ourselves, we are in the total scheme of things little more than insignificant mites.

The immensity of the domain which we inhabit makes our strivings, our struggles and our aspirations seem somehow unimportant. The unending journey of our world through space, the eons of time of our universe pales into trifling littleness the feverish activity of our trifling days.

WHERE YOU LIVE—Stand on a hill with the sky above and the earth below and ask yourself: Where do I live?

You will say first, I live here, of course.

But where?

And then the answer comes, slowly with realization: I live in Escanaba, Delta county, the State of Michigan, the United States of America, North American continent, the Western Hemisphere, the World, the Solar System—the Universe.

That is where we live—and it is a very big place.

A TREE GROWS—There is the deep-carpeted forest, rich with the accumulation of centuries of rotting vegetation. Into this carpet your feet sink deeply—and there will come the day when your whole body will sink into it, adding its little to the receptive earth. There is nothing you can do about that.

It is an inevitable as the day you were born.

OF YESTERDAY—There is the minute that just ticked past, so loud it can be heard. There is the pleasant memory of yesterday. The struggle of last year is there behind us. And the decade—the score of years—the lifetime of living. Soon all will be behind us and of the future we still know little or nothing.

OF TOMORROW—But there is the second, minute the hour to come—and there is tomorrow and the years ahead! But of these we are not sure. If the charitable god of time permits, yes, if he should decide against it—there will be no tomorrow for you.

THE REALITY—This moment is the only one of reality. It is the only time you can hold, briefly, as of now and say: I am alive! So far as time will permit there is this brief realization that you are an entity, a perishable but still whole unit of the universe.

For this moment then, cherish it as you would a perishable life-time, grasp it closely, hold it fast—for it is all that fast-flowing time will permit.

NEW COURSES—There are the rivers that cross out countryside. Time also has seen them born—has seen many die. Yet in the course of the river's life it has marked the earth indelibly, left traces of itself upon the fertile plain, worn down the rocky barrier. Where some obstacle too great for its strength has blocked its course, it has turned aside.

But the river won. For the obstacle, once passed, stands not as an obstacle but a contradictory

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Forty-five students, from Escanaba, Gladstone, Rapid River and Stephenson comprise the enrollment at the Freshman college being held at the Escanaba senior high school, it was announced by Prin. John A. Lemmer. The teaching staff is composed of William Acker, sociology and history; Charles Folio, English and history; George Germaine, mathematics, chemistry and physical education; Beatrice Perron, French, art and physical education and Ross Stokes, music.

Gladstone — Taxpayers of the city will today decide whether a new modern sewage disposal plant shall be constructed here when they vote on the proposal to bond for $75,000 to finance construction of the proposed project. Approved by the P.W.A. at Washington, for construction as a public work, the government will make a grant of 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials.

20 Years Ago—1924

Manistowick — A formal protest against the present practice of stopping the morning Soo Line train at the water tank and not at the Manistowick station, was made this week by the chamber of commerce. It is claimed that the present system is an inconvenience to passengers, compelling them to walk through the storm or cold from the new depot to the freight depot, where the train stops for water.

Gladstone — City officials are now awaiting the decision of the public utilities commission on the proposed schedule of rates of the Escanaba Power and Traction company on which a hearing was held Oct. 31 in Escanaba. Gladstone authorities objected to the schedule because this city would be compelled to pay 44.4 per cent more for power and light than Escanaba.

25 Years Ago—1919

Rough estimates at an early hour last night were that about 110,000 tons of bituminous coal on the docks in Escanaba or otherwise in transit here, has been taken over by the U. S. railroad administration, acting under orders of Director General Hines. Distribution of the nation's coal supply where most needed during the miners' strike was given as the reason.

hill which feels the grinding action of its current while the river flows on determinedly to the bay.

There is no discouragement in nature. There is only change.

The high bluff that once received the buffeting waters of the bay now stands far back, withdrawn from the shore through passing centuries. Now it stands tree-crowned and calls itself a height, an eminence. But passing time will either bring it down again or, in a mighty upheaval of natural forces, fling it upward into a mighty mountain — only to level it again.

For us there is only the moment of now. For we too are brought to heights, reduced to depths. Nothing can halt the onward rush of changing timelessness.

NOT HOPELESSNESS—Standing then under the changing sky, on a hill that once was a valley, by a river whose changing course tells its story of growth, man is a wondering little mite. He knows yet he does not know. He reaches for infinity—and has only a fleeting moment of comprehension.

Measured in the vast cup of time, our little moment is less than a drop. Together our moments combine toward a world-realization of man-moments, and their importance in some great project these into man-hours of world-accomplishments.

But then the changing course of time may spill the cup, and all the accumulated moments will be gone, and man will have to start again in striving littleness.

—Clint Dunathan.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK—Democracy: Louis Bromfield, the author, is one of the most active campaigners for Gov. Dewey. Orson Welles is one of the most active campaigners for President Roosevelt. They came face to face a few nights ago, shortly after Welles had left his sick bed . . . Welles explained that he still was suffering from a bad throat. Bromfield's assistant, George Hawkins, suggested: "I have just the thing to fix it — honey from Malabar Farm."

Tonight, Democrat Welles is making a coast-to-coast campaign speech. If he's in good voice some of the credit will go to the honey from Republican Bromfield's Malabar Farm.

ATTIRE: Senator Pat McCarran went to the Senate Barber Shop for a haircut and shave. He spoke to Sen. Danaher of Conn. and both decided that the barber shop was warm. "Let's all take our coats off," they suggested, and all the Senators removed their coats. All of them were wearing the bright red Stork Club suspenders sent by Sherman Billingsley.

AMBITION: Senator Mead of N. Y., now campaigning for the President throughout the State, discusses in his speeches the opportunities for public office. "Your children may grow up to try for whatever office they want to — Governor, Vice-President, even President," he tells them, then adds: "But not Senator. I have that staked out for myself, and want no further competition."

ROLE: Beatrice Lillie's return to America, after an absence of five years, brought on an avalanche of night-club, movie and radio offers. When Miss Lillie, or rather Lady Peel, was here last, she was offered a role in a Bing Crosby picture. "First you're a bar-maid," the producer told her, "and in the final scene you become a titled lady—Lady Buffington."

"I'll play a bar-maid, because I'm not a bar-maid," Lady Peel told him, "but I'll not play a Lady, because I AM a Lady."

AGE: In England Miss Lillie played in a charity cricket game. She was captain of a team of actresses then playing in London's shows. The rival team was composed of authors of current books and plays . . . Hugh Walpole, J. B. Priestly and the other authors, except one, made deliberate errors, in honor of their lady opponents. The one author so insisted upon playing the game seriously was the venerable Lord Dunsany . . . "Who's the old boy playing so seriously?" asked Miss Lillie. "Isn't he too old to qualify for this match? Did he really write something recent enough to qualify?"

"Yes," she was told. "He just wrote his 'Memoirs of 65 Years.'"

HISTORY: When the full story of the Roosevelt family is written, this fact will come to light—that the President's grandfather, who was in Italy in 1860, fought under Garibaldi for three months, as a soldier in the battles for the liberation and unification of Italy.

FEAR: Jan Karski is the young Polish author of "Story of a Secret State," which will be a January book-of-the-month. It's a story of his underground activities in Warsaw, before he succeeded in escaping to New York. Karski was asked to describe his reactions to the new life. "In Warsaw I kept rotating between three sleeping places," he replied. "In New York I've had to do the same thing, sleeping at the 'Y,' a friend's house and at a hotel. In Warsaw I had to keep moving because of the police. In New York I keep moving because I can't find hotel space."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington — Congressional secretaries on Capitol Hill are boiling mad over another case of an attempted salary kick-back. This one involves Republican Congressman John Butler of Buffalo, whose former secretary, Miss Marie Colquist, admits that he asked her to return $1400 of the salary paid her during the past two years.

Miss Colquist, however, refused. She didn't have $1400 in the first place and, in the second place, felt that she was entitled to her full salary.

Forced to leave, she was then given a job by another Buffalo Congressman, Walter G. Andrews, also a Republican. Mr. Andrews has attached no strings to Miss Colquist's salary.

NOTE—Congressman Butler also has his daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Butler, on the Government payroll as a secretary in his office.

More information has just come to light regarding another Congressman who goes in for salary kick-backs. Representative Ed Rowe of Ohio, who required his secretary, Mrs. Margaret Nelson, to turn back around $110 per month out of her salary for the upkeep of his private office in Akron.

It further appears that Congressman Rowe, on receiving requests from some of his constituents to do special jobs for them in Washington, referred them to his campaign manager, a lawyer who charged the constituents a fee, thus getting reimbursed for his campaign services.

One of Congressman Rowe's constituents, Burt Vandever of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, states that, when his boy died in the Navy, the Veterans' Administration was slow in paying insurance, so he went to see his Congressman. Mr. Rowe referred him to an attorney, James Hinton, who had been Rowe's campaign manager.

After some correspondence with the Veterans' Administration by Rowe, and the preparation of an affidavit by Hinton, the dead boy's insurance was paid. Whereupon Hinton sent the father a bill for $50. When Vandever complained about this, the fee was adjusted to $25.

Mrs. Nelson, former secretary to Rowe, says that the Congressman gave her instructions to refer many constituents to Hinton so that he might be reimbursed for his campaign expenses.

—BALL OUTSHINES BOYER— Hollywood star Charles Boyer has been one of FDR's ardent campaigners. But when he makes a speech, he is careful about police protection—especially when there is a large proportion of females in the audience.

At Hunter College, New York's leading college for women, the famed Boyer requested in advance of his speech that he be given extra police to keep away autograph hunters, and a special place to park his car so he could get away in a hurry.

Came the speech. Boyer did a swell job. But there was no stampede of autograph-seekers. Instead, Joe Ball, sincere, statuesque Senator from Minnesota, stole the show. Ball talked about international cooperation, and why he was supporting Roosevelt for future peace.

Afterward, the women flocked around Lincolnesque Joe Ball. The usually lionized Boyer had no trouble making a get-away, almost unnoticed.

—UTAH SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN—

President Roosevelt has told advisers that, if there wasn't a war on, one State in which he would have liked to campaign this year is Utah—not because he considers it doubtful, but to support his old friend, Senator Elbert Thomas.

Thomas, now chairman of the important Senate Education and Labor Committee, has helped pioneer some of Roosevelt's important progressive legislation, in addition to being a key member of the Senate Foreign Relations and Military Affairs Committees.

He is being opposed this year by Adam S. Bennion, leading Mormon utility lawyer with the backing of the reactionary hierarchy of the Mormon Church. Real head of the church today is Reuben Clark, a strong Hoover man whom Hoover appointed U. S. Ambassador to Mexico. Clark is doing everything possible to elect Bennion.

The White House has received word that Thomas is in for a close race but, according to latest reports, he will be re-elected.

—ELECTION FIGHT IN VIRGINIA— Washingtonians, who can't vote, are getting a second-hand kick out of the vigorous fight being waged against "alleged" Democrat Congressman Howard Smith just across the Potomac in Virginia. Nettled by the unexpected fight, Smith has gone out of his way to try to frighten his opposition.

First he had his opponent, Elizabeth Chilton Murray, hauled before the House Campaign Expenditures Committee. Now he has intimidated to Mrs. Virginia Durr, wife of able FCC commissioner Cliff Durr, that he contemplates a libel suit against her. Durr is the brother-in-law of Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, and Mrs. Durr last week accused Smith of certain transactions in connection with the National Airport.

4 PROPOSALS UP TO VOTERS

Amendment Changes Are Listed On Tuesday
Ballot

Lansing, Nov. 4. (P)—Four constitutional amendment proposals will be submitted to the election for "Yes" or "No" votes in the general election Tuesday, to determine whether they shall become part of the fundamental law of Michigan.

In the order in which they appear on the ballots, they are:

Proposal No. 1—A proposal to authorize cities to furnish greater percentages of their water supply to suburban areas. This is a measure designed to allow better water service in war plant communities which have sprung up about established cities.

Proposal No. 2—A proposal to allow members of the legislature to run for elective state administrative office during the terms for which they were elected as legislators. This resulted from challenges of the right of Dignan and Brake to hold their offices because they were members of the senate when nominated and elected. The challenges never reached the courts, although Democrats threatened once to sue.

Proposal No. 3—To increase compensation of legislators from $3 to $5 a day the year around for their two-year terms. Proponents, pointing to arrest and conviction of 20 past and present members of the legislature on graft conspiracy charges, said legislators could not live on the present wage and had to pay the difference out of their own pockets or take "favors" or graft from lobbyists. A few opponents in the legislature said most legislators don't earn as much as $3, while working for the state.

Proposal No. 4—"Home rule" amendment which would authorize Wayne county to adopt an alternative form of government. Reform groups in Wayne contend their county is too large to be governed as others, and should have an administrative head. Out-state local politicians have fought the proposal, drawing from the proposal's Detroit supporters an assertion that they did so because they feared the idea might spread and imperil their political organizations.

Plan Improvements To Escanaba Taxi Company Building

Plans and specifications have been completed by G. Arntzen, Escanaba architect, for alterations and extension of the Escanaba Taxi company building at 615 Ludington street, owned by Mark Sabuco. Approval for the improvements is being sought from the War Production board.

Included in the improvement plans is the extension of the building to the alley, providing an additional 40 by 50-foot space, and the construction of a ramp from the alley into the basement to permit car storage space. The building extension would be of brick.

Waxed surfaces tend to resist water and other types of spots.

China Blowup Was No Surprise To Insiders

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

New York—Now and then orators in the course of this campaign have pointed with pride to our backyard fight, which is just about what this contest comes down to, as evidence that we are so strong and so secure that we can afford politics as usual.

I'm beginning to wonder if that's true. Our complacency should have been jarred by the recall of General Stillwell. In that single incident, as in a lightning flash, was revealed the abyss of China and the long, tortuous road ahead.

So much that has been kept back by censorship, so much that is dark and devious was suddenly exposed. It was the most convincing proof in the world of the mistake of a political censorship such as has been steadily maintained by the government in Chungking.

Insiders Expected It

To those on the inside, the blowup was no surprise. They've known for many months that Chiang Kai-Shek was not really fighting this war. They've known the deep internal divisions that have made the Chungking regime almost helpless.

But the American public knew none of that. The news that Stilwell was removed because of a long-standing disagreement with China's Generalissimo over the tempo of the war comes as a shock to the average American. And that's really what it means, even when you take into account that "Vinegar Joe," as his men in the China-Burma theater call him, is not the most diplomatic negotiator.

Of course, we go to ridiculous extremes in this country. Idealizing the Chinese, we've built up a false picture of a noble, uncompromising people with an infinite capacity to preserve Democratic government in the face of years of suffering and defeat. It was impossible on the face of it, and it overlooked the really great qualities of the Chinese people.

Now the danger is that we'll go to the other extreme. Turn some muckraking correspondent loose with the materials that anyone can turn up in Chungking, and we'll run in the other direction. China will be written off as a hopelessly decadent dictatorship, and that will be as foolish as the first distortion. It had begun with gossip from columnists about Chiang Kai-Shek's private life.

The viewpoint of the military leaders in this war has been closer to reality. They have said all along that we should make every effort to use Chinese manpower in the great struggle still to come, no matter what we thought of China's politics or Chiang Kai-Shek's personal life. That was imperative if we were to avoid a very long war and a very great loss of American lives on the Asiatic mainland.

It was what Stilwell was trying to do, with all possible encouragement from General Marshall. He was trying under great handicaps to show that a Chinese force could be equipped with modern weapons and trained for modern warfare. Dispatches he sent back to Washington showed he believed he had succeeded, at least on a token scale, and he wanted to go on from that point.

Japanese Are Entrenched

The Naval victories in the Pacific thrilled every American. But to talk about the defeat of the Japanese in terms of the Spanish Armada, as though it were decisive, is to encourage at this stage of the war a dangerous over optimism.

It ignores the fact that the Japanese are entrenched on the mainland. Chiang Kai-Shek has held out against all the inducements of the Japanese. But what if the inextinguishable pressure of circumstances should seem to force him into peace? Then our war in the Far East would have a strange look. From every point of view we would be at a tremendous disadvantage.

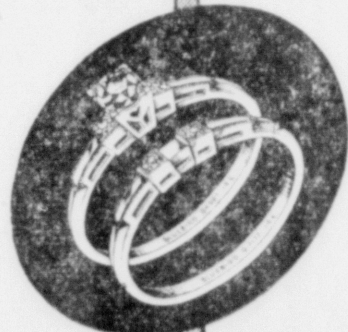

Here we have no political censorship. If Chinese correspondents cabled back even a fraction of the double talk, the discrimination, the hatreds, the lies and the villainies loosed in this campaign, would we sound very much more united than the Chinese?

The courage and stamina of American youth, the weight of American production, American technical genius are winning the war. But sometimes you wonder how great our unity really is here at home behind that drive for victory. The man from Mars, or from Chungking, hearing what we say now in this savage windup, would certainly wonder. Let's stop picking out the flaws in our far distant allies and take a good look at what is happening right here.

Announce Rules On Christmas Cards

The War Department advises that Christmas greeting cards for soldiers overseas must be sent in sealed envelopes and prepaid at the first class rate of 3 cents an ounce or fraction of an ounce, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster Regina W. Cleary. The War Department further urges that such cards be mailed at once, stating that cards mailed now will, according to the Army Postal Service, reach even the most distant APO's by Dec. 25.

The point of a pin looks like a mountain range with peaks and valleys apparently thousands of feet apart in the Vectograph, a

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY SOME THOUGHTS ABOUT THE OFFICE

No person can expect to be elected to any office unless he can personally attend to the duties of the position; that all tradesmen, students, working men, office men, farmers, and all others, except a political office holder, must give up their positions and jobs as they enter the Armed Service, which is a great sacrifice; that United States has attempted to bring office holders under the same rule by prohibiting them from being candidates for any office by their own efforts, and such a candidate cannot say or do anything to help his candidacy; that if it were not for this regulation, it would give an office holder an unfair advantage over all other service men; that this regulation cannot control the actions of his friends; that it is the law upon the return of any service man, he will be entitled to his position or job, but this does not apply to a political office because that belongs to the voters or people; that no person should turn an office over to another, after he is elected, without first announcing his intention to do so; that Mr. Yelland has so announced, so that any voter who casts his vote for him, knows he is going to turn the office over to Mr. McGonagle, if he returns and asks for it within the next two years; friends of any service man should not place his name upon the ballot because they are doing him a real injustice for different reasons: that this must be true because as far as can be learned at this time, this is the only case in the State of Michigan where the name of a service man has been placed on the ballot. All service men, as a rule, are religiously living up to this regulation; that this should not be charged against Mr. McGonagle because he is not in any way to blame for it; that the blame is the result of over-enthusiastic friends or by selfish people makes but little difference; that Mr. McGonagle is a fine young man and should not be sacrificed by his friends; that by voting for Mr. Yelland, you are not voting against Mr. McGonagle; that it is an effort on the part of persons receiving the benefits from the position to ride into office on the coat tail of a service man. Mr. Yelland is now a non-partisan candidate and no one should hesitate to vote for him.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN RALLY

Lund, Bailey And County
Candidates Speak
At Luncheon

Women of Delta county have a definite stake in good government, said Atty. Wendell Lund at a Democratic women's luncheon Saturday noon in St. Joseph's church basement.

Among the privileges of women in governmental affairs, said Mr. Lund, are the rights to insist on clean campaigning and on less distortion of facts, to insist on unremitting prosecution of the war, a more secure and prosperous postwar world, greater educational opportunities for their children.

Claiming that the Republican campaign organization "has stooped to personal attacks" Mr. Lund defended Mrs. Roosevelt and declared that "she has done more to the intellectual life of women than any other woman who ever lived."

Replying to a charge which he said has been made by the opposition relative to bickering in Washington, the speaker expressed the opinion that only in democratic America is a man allowed to express his opinion openly; consequently the story that President Roosevelt wants to be a dictator is untrue, because in countries under dictatorship one simply does not oppose the government.

Atty. Lund stated his belief in the ability of the present administration to successfully prosecute the war to a successful close, and he expressed the opinion that the president, due to his experience, wisdom and knowledge of foreign affairs, stood a much better chance of securing a satisfactory and enduring peace than an untired and inexperienced man.

Speaking in behalf of his candidacy for the office of congressman from the 11th district, Cecil W. Bailey contrasted labor problems prior to 1932 with conditions during the Roosevelt administration.

He cited instances of disputes during the Republican regime which he declared were mis-handled by the use of court injunctions and the unwarranted use of militia in suppressing strikes, and expressed the opinion that since 1932 labor disputes have been settled more satisfactorily without force.

Mr. Bailey stated that as a rural school teacher and farmer in his spare time, he is in a position to analyze problems of farmers and consequently is qualified to represent his district in congress. Mr. Bailey believes that the economic well being of small business men, laborers, professional men is interdependent upon the economic prosperity of the farmer.

Candidates for county offices were introduced and asked for the support of the voters at next Tuesday's election. Mrs. Dan Gallagher acted as chairman during the meeting.

STATE SENATOR

Better Qualified By Training and Experience
To Give This Senatorial District The Kind Of Representation Needed At Lansing.

AS A WAR VETERAN he is pledged to give all service men the kind of laws needed for the post war era, especially laws to provide rehabilitation of the young men of this war.

AS A LABORER on the railroad he knows the problems of working men and women, and will favor legislation to provide greater protection to workers in industrial plants broadening the workmens' compensation law, unemployment insurance, old age security benefits, child labor laws.

AS COUNTY TREASURER FOR TWELVE YEARS, he has first hand knowledge for the need of revision of our tax laws, and will favor such legislation to give the local governments, township, school, village, city and county, a share of the growing surpluses of taxes collected by the State, thereby easing the tax burdens upon the small tax payers. THERE MUST BE AN EQUALIZATION OF TAXES.

HIS QUALIFICATIONS assure the people of this district equal representation, regardless of locality, race, color, creed or political affiliation.

On the Cherbourg Peninsula, June, 1944—Just a column of little items—

The other day a friend and I were in a mid-peninsula town not many miles from Cherbourg and we stopped to ask a couple of young French policemen wearing dark blue uniforms and Sam Browne belts where to go to buy a certain article.

Being quite hospitable, they jumped in the car and went along to show us. After we had finished our buying we all got back in the car. We tried to ask the policemen where they were going. They in turn asked us where we were going.

Knowing it was hopeless in our limited French to explain that we were going to our camp up the road, we merely said Cherbourg, meaning our camp was in that direction.

But the Frenchmen thought we meant to drive right into Cherbourg which was still in German hands. Quick as a flash they jumped up, hit the driver on the shoulder to get the car stopped, shook hands rapidly all around, saluted, and scurried out with a terrified "Au revoir." None of that Cherbourg stuff for those boys.

Some of the German officers are pleased at being captured, but your died-in-the-wool Nazi is not. They brought in a young one the other day who was furious. He considered it thoroughly unethical that we fought so hard.

The Americans had attacked all night, and the Germans don't like night attacks. When this special

The most wrecked town I have seen so far is Saint Sauveur le Vicomte, known simply as "San-Sah-Vure." Its buildings are gutted and leaning, its streets choked with rubble, and vehicles drive over the top of it.

Bombing and shellfire from both sides did it. The place looks exactly like World War I pictures of such places as Verdun. At the edge of the town the bomb craters are so immense that you could put whole houses in them.

A veteran of the last war pretty well summed up the two wars the other day when he said:

"This is just like the last war, only the holes are bigger."

So far as I know, we have entered France without anybody making a historic remark about it. Last time, you know, it was "Lafayette, we are here."

The nearest I have heard to a historic remark was made by an ack-ack gunner, sitting on a mound of earth about two weeks after D-day, reading The Stars and Stripes from London. All of a sudden he said:

"Say, where's this Normandy beachhead it talks about in here?"

"Why you're sitting on it."

And he said:

"Well, I'll be damned. I never knowed that."

While We At Home Do Our Duty By Voting On Election Day, Our Military Might Will Be On Duty, Too, Destroying the Evil Forces Who Would Deprive Us That Right and Privilege.

WHEN YOU VOTE - - - REMEMBER OUR ARMED FORCES

And McGONAGLE

Prosecutor Clyde McGonagle

IS NOW ON DUTY WITH THE U. S. NAVY

When he returns home from duty with the U. S. Navy he would like to return to his former position . . . Prosecuting Attorney of Delta County.

He served six months of the second term to which you elected him before he volunteered for service. He looks forward to returning home when victory is won and his Navy Job done.

Before he entered service he selected Torval E. Strom to serve as acting Prosecutor during his absence. We believe he fulfilled his obligation to Delta County residents by recommending the man he did to act for him. Mr. Strom has done an excellent job, performing the duties of the office faithfully and efficiently.

Acting Prosecutor Torval E. Strom

"When Mr. McGonagle asked me to serve as Prosecutor while he would be serving with the Navy, I promised to conduct the office to the best of my ability. I have kept that promise.

"I refused to be a candidate against Mr. McGonagle in the election.

"I believe that his job should be kept for him. When he is discharged from military duty, Mr. McGonagle should find his job waiting for him.

"To take it away from him, while he is in the fighting forces, would be a stab in the back.

"I sincerely hope that Delta voters feel as I do and will again elect McGonagle Prosecutor."

Mr. McGonagle's Opponent:

The Candidate Seeking to Take McGonagle's Job Away from Him While He Is In The Navy Has, in Effect, Said:

"If I am elected, I will resign in favor of Mr. McGonagle PROVIDING Mr. McGonagle requests the return of his office IN WRITING."

VOTERS—Would we be fair and honest with a friend and one of Uncle Sam's Navy if we failed him? Would you want to embarrass McGonagle by forcing him to WRITE A LETTER begging someone to give him his job back?

Let's not do that to McGonagle. Let's prepare a rousing "Welcome Home" for him on Election Day by re-electing him Delta County Prosecutor.

POLLS TO CLOSE 8 P. M. TUESDAY

Electors To Receive 4 Ballots; Big Vote Is Expected

With the largest registration in history and with interest at high pitch, it is anticipated that the largest outpouring of voters in the history of the county will go to the polls Tuesday in the general presidential election.

Recent action of the special session of the legislature has made no change in hours the polls will be open in the cities and townships of Delta county. They will remain

VOTE EARLY

City Clerk Carl E. Anderson yesterday urged Escanaba voters to go to the polls at a convenient time during the day, rather than wait until a late hour. The vote is expected to be exceptionally heavy and a last hour rush will be avoided if balloting is distributed more evenly throughout the day.

open as previously announced, opening at 7 a. m. and closing at 8 p. m.

In Escanaba the total registration is over 8,000, the largest number in the history of the city, according to City Clerk Carl E. Anderson.

The city clerk also reported that another record was set this year in the number of absent voters ballots received. There was a total of 1,055 of which 539 were to persons from Escanaba in the armed forces of the United States, and 516 were civilian.

The electors will receive four ballots when they go to the polls Tuesday. One will be the presidential ballot, bearing the names of candidates for president and vice president. Another will be the state ballot, which will include names of candidates for state, congressional, legislative, and county candidates. The third is the non-partisan judicial ballot on which the names of candidates for probate judge and circuit court commissioners will appear; and the fourth will be the referendum ballot on four proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Purpose of the election Tuesday is to elect the following officers:

National — President and vice president of the United States.

State — Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, secretary of state, state treasurer, auditor general.

Congressional — Representative in congress.

Legislative — State senator, representative in the state legislature.

County — Prosecuting attorney, sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, register of deeds, drain commissioner, coroners, county surveyor.

In Escanaba the polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. at the following designated polling places:

First precinct—Carnegie public library.

Second precinct — Franklin school.

Third precinct—City hall building.

Fourth precinct—Jefferson school.

Fifth precinct—Junior high school.

Sixth precinct—Barr school.

Seventh precinct—North Escanaba fire station.

Eighth precinct — Senior high school.

GETS 3 GEES

Menominee — Navy Lieutenant Ray Washburn highlighted a four-day leave yesterday when he shot three Canada geese at Hayward lake in Menominee county. The honkers weighed 7½, 6½ and 6 pounds.

Lieut. Washburn was hunting with his wife. They set out decoys and a flock of 30 honkers came over. Five alighted in the decoys. The Washburns held their fire, hoping the entire flock would light, but they didn't. A short while later the five that alighted took to the air and the Washburns shot three of them.

Two Injured When Car Jumps Curve

Clarence Willette, 112 North 11th street, and Thomas Hayes, 2308 Ludington, were taken to St. Francis hospital with cuts and bruises last night as the result of an automobile accident at 23rd street and Lake Shore road.

The two men were passengers in a light coach driven by Herbert Legault, 1812 Second avenue north, which failed to make a curve coming off 23rd street on highway M-35 at the junction with Lake Shore. The car did not turn over, but was badly damaged when it plunged off the road. Legault was not injured, and the attending physician at the hospital said that the injuries of the other two men were not serious.

MAKES AIRPORT PLANS

Menominee—Definite steps towards completion of Menominee county's new airport, located at the Park avenue city limits, were taken today with the arrival here of Al McCuskey and Peter Davis, engineers of the Chicago regional office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration to begin surveys and preparation of plans and specifications for completion of the project.

The engineering personnel was assigned to Menominee by Carl McCluer, superintendent of airways for the CAA, who requested the Menominee county road commission, which has had engineering supervision on the project, to assist the engineers with such plans as the road commission has prepared and information concerning existing bench marks, property lines, etc.

Milk production in 1943 totaled 26,263,000,000 quarts.

H. Powers. Mr. Uren is a brother of Mrs. Powers.

Mrs. W. J. Stromwell, 300 Second avenue south, is a patient at St. Francis hospital.

ENOUGH TREES FOR CHRISTMAS

From 10 To 15 Million
Are Used For Yule
Decorations

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington (AP)—There is good news about Christmas trees.

The Agriculture Department's forestry service expects enough trees to meet demand. Cutting began about two weeks ago.

And the trees will be moved to market it was stated at the office of the Association of American Railroads.

Because he expects a good tree supply, an official of the forestry service says:

Last year's stories got around that there would be a shortage of Christmas trees. So transient vendors went out, cut trees locally, and tried to sell them.

These, added to the trees which moved through the regular channels, glutted the market. There should be no need for such vendors this year.

The forestry service, which has just made a survey of Christmas tree prospects through its regional offices, reports:

Usually between 10 and 15 million trees are used for Christmas. Half of them come from the Pacific northwest.

Montana alone shipped about three million trees last year and expects to do the same this year. The rest come from the lake states, the northeastern states and Canada.

Canada shipped five million trees into the United States last year.

The lake states and Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire expect to produce about the same amount of trees as in 1943. There may be a slight drop in Pennsylvania and in New York production probably will be half of 1943.

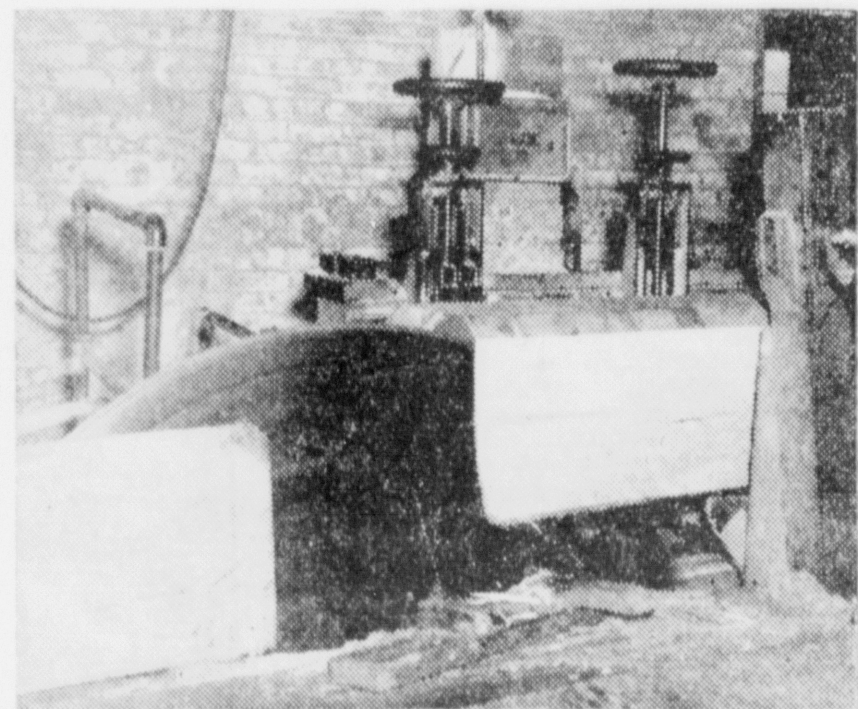

Minnesota, which cut three million trees last year, will yield about one-half million less this year. But a third of Minnesota's production stays in that state.

Manpower seems plentiful enough to supply the Christmas tree market.

Veneer Manufacturing Depicted By Daily Press Cameraman

RAW MATERIAL—A maple log is on its way to the steaming vat, the first step in the manufacture of Birds Eye Veneer. The logs, cut in short lengths are hauled to the Birds Eye Veneer company yards, where they are piled until used. Above George Bryson, teamster, takes care of the skidding operations.

BIRCH VENEER—This huge segment saw cuts a birch log into one-fourth-inch strips of veneer which, when cured, are used in the manufacture of war material. Before being cut these logs, after being sawed in two, also receive a steam bath for several hours. Veneer of this type is used in doors for B-29 bombers.

About 10,000 people are killed annually by fire in the United States.

READY FOR LATHE—Having steamed and cooked until it is nearly as black as a piece of coal, the maple log is on its way into the mill. The heavy bark is peeled from the wood, and the log, still hot, goes into the lathe. Revolving against the stationary knife, the log is literally peeled into long strips of veneer of the desired thickness. Note the safety belts on Neil McCollman and William Kuebler, whose job it is to fish the log out of the steaming pond.

DEHYDRATER—The textile dryer removes all moisture from the quarter sliced curly birch. Lionel Preseau and George Belonge feed the machine soggy veneer strips. They pass slowly through the dryer, are subjected to intense heat in the process, and finally return, dry and crisp, and are ready for the shipping department.

BIRDS EYE VENEER—Above Frank McGraw, superintendent, and Harry Hogan, head inspector, admire the beautiful grain in an especially attractive sample of clear birds eye veneer. This piece, as well as those stacked behind it, is ready for shipment, and before long will be part of the rapidly expanding might of United States and allied air power.

RACIAL UNREST CURBED BY PLAN

Intolerance Combatted
By Organization
In Minnesota

BY JACK McKAY

St. Paul, (AP)—There'll be no race riots in Minnesota if Governor Edward J. Thye's novel plan works.

The "Governor's Inter-Racial Commission," set up last December after the riots in Detroit, is wrestling with the problems of racial and religious tensions.

The commission is headed by a Catholic priest, Rev. Father Francis J. Gilligan and includes a Methodist educator, an Episcopal Bishop, a Jewish Rabbi, and several negro members.

The Urgan League, the Minnesota Jewish Council and other groups dealing with problems of minorities have joined with the commission in Minnesota's challenge to the "hate mongers."

Thye has insisted that "while we are going to win the war on the battlefields of the world, we will lose the war on the home front if we allow our nation to become tainted with hate." He credits the commission with "doing a bang-up job."

"The trait which characterizes the Governor's Inter-Racial Commission in Minnesota is its determination to give specific attention to specific projects," explained Dr. Filligan, the chairman.

Fr. Gilligan contends that one of the points of conflict is the denial of employment to negroes in peace time industries. He relates how the commission tried to obtain a comprehensive picture of the facts.

"Incidentally," he said, "The commission found that the concise questionnaires mailed to the employers in the metropolitan areas has tremendous educational values."

"The questionnaires mailed to labor unions had a similar effect. The return of them often was delayed because of much discussion before the executive board of the union."

Big Silk Industry Planned In Brazil

Rio De Janeiro (AP)—Brazil is on its way to a leading position in silk production, according to the National Silk-culture Company of Brazil.

Cutoff shipments of silk from the Far East since the war have helped project Brazil solidly into the world's silk industry picture. Several factories in Brazil's industrial capital of Sao Paulo are already turning out high grade silk and industrialists plan a postwar expansion when more textile machinery will be available.

FORD ASKS END OF RESTRICTION

Says Wartime Controls Over Production To Cause Trouble

Detroit, (AP) — Henry Ford has advocated the earliest possible elimination of war time controls over materials, production and distribution and asserted that the future is "none too bright as things stand right now." * * * for "millions of young men and women whole world this will be in a few years."

"The inspiration to work hard, to compete strongly with the other fellow in the same business, has almost been destroyed. War-time controls that tie up raw materials, restrict production and limit the distribution of goods have got to be discontinued as rapidly as possible after the war if our American system of living and doing business is to be resumed.

"Today we find some disciples of government preaching a doctrine of continued control over private enterprise and that means control over individual initiative. We had more than 150 years of the American way of life before we began to hear this kind of talk. It must be stopped now," Ford said that not all of the problem of today and tomorrow lies with government or business. "A good portion of it," he said, "lies with those who work in the shops and factories of the country."

"No real American workman wants anything for nothing; what he wants is a chance to work and to get ahead on his own ability," Ford stated.

American Prisoners Are Mistreated By Japanese

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Press Washington Correspondent

The story of the 20,000 American soldiers and civilians held captive by the Japanese makes one of the blackest chapters in the history of the war.

There are still some 2000 to 3000 missing from the Bataan group. No Filipinos have ever been reported to this country, the Japs claiming that is none of our business. Since last March, the Japs have reported the names of only 62 captured Americans, but there have been propaganda broadcasts of messages to next of kin from 1000 American soldiers, sailors and marines not yet reported as captured. Deaths have been reported two years after they occurred.

From most of the Japanese prison camps, the Americans may send home only one post card or one letter a year. From a few of the show camps the number may be three or four messages a year, but that is a maximum. Some of these messages have been two or three years on the way. The last batch of mail was received in August. It had been started on its way in February, coming overland across Siberia, Russia, Iran, Egypt and thence across the Mediterranean and Atlantic. In the whole three years of the war, there have been only three large prisoner mails from Japan.

Japs Stall Relief

Still worse than the mail situation, however, is inability to get adequate medicines, clothing and food supplies to the inmates of the Jap camps. For two years the U. S. Department of State, the Red Cross and the Swiss government acting as the neutral protecting power in representing American interests, have tried to find some formula for shipping in relief supplies acceptable to the Japanese. But every proposal meets with the diplomatic stall and run-around. The way matters stand now, 2000 tons of relief supplies have been shipped overland across Siberia to Vladivostok. The Russians have agreed to transfer the supplies to a port south of Vladivostok, where the Japs tentatively have agreed to pick them up. But — they haven't done it yet! These negotiations have been going on since March, 1943. To proposals that medicines be sent in by air, the Japs made no answer whatever.

In the summer of 1942 the United States chartered a neutral vessel to carry in supplies for prisoners of war relief, but the Japs refused to give it safe conduct to move in Japanese waters and furthermore indicated they would not send one of their own ships to a neutral port. The Japs will permit the International Red Cross to administer relief only in Hong Kong and parts of Jap-occupied China, but not in Japan, the Philippines, Malaya or the Dutch East Indies.

In the face of this stalemate the only relief supplies which have been forced through Japanese red tape were shipments sent on the two voyages of the Gripsholm in 1942 and 1943 for the exchange of some 2500 civilian nationals. Assurances have been given that these supplies were distributed by the Japs to their prisoners, but all efforts to arrange for further exchanges of personnel have met with Japanese refusals to even discuss the subject.

Japan's diplomatic out for all this bad behavior is that her government did not ratify the Geneva convention of 1929, relative to the treatment of prisoners of war. At the outbreak of the war, however, the U. S. government obtained assurances from the Japanese that they would apply the principles set forth in the convention to the treatment of its American captives and to American civilian internees. How well the Japs have lived up to these assurances are best shown by the record.

Spread Far and Wide

Representatives of the Swiss government and the International Red Cross have been permitted to visit only a few of the camps at which Americans are held prisoner. Location of some eight or ten of the camps is not even known. The best reports on conditions in the camps have come from first hand accounts related by the repatriated civilians brought back on the two voyages of the Gripsholm.

Prison camps that have been located are a camp for officers of the rank of colonel or over at Shanghai, a camp on Formosa where General Wainwright was last reported, a big camp for 1500 prisoners near Mukden, Manchuria, and five active camps on the Japanese Islands proper. There is one camp for Americans near Mindanao in the Philippines, another on Borneo, three or more on Java, one on Sumatra, one in Burma, one in Thailand and several in French Indo-China.

For the Filipinos, they are thought to be camps One and Three near Manila, on a coffee plantation, Number Two 25 miles up river from Davao, and Numbers Four and Eleven also thought to be near Manila though these last two are mere guesses. Camp Three is a prison hospital and Four may be.

Powers

Powers—Mrs. Amy Williams and Mrs. Tom Bryson and granddaughter Rosemary Lefave left Friday by bus for a week's visit with relatives in Flint.

Mrs. Ed Veesser spent a few days of the past week in Menominee, where she served on the jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Veldkamp of Lansing, Ill., spent the week end at the home of the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. James Poquette. They came for the wedding of Milton Poquette, on Saturday.

New Guinea Holds Antiseptic Wedding

Port Moresby, New Guinea (AP) — At a recent service wedding in Port Moresby, the bride wore a wedding gown of surgical muslin, artificial orange blossoms of antiseptic cotton and a bouquet made from surgical ribbon.

The wedding ring was fashioned from old pieces of surgical gold by a dental mechanic. A few spoonfuls of brandy from medical supplies were used as a "preserving ingredient" for the wedding cake.

The bridegroom was a young Australian officer, the bride an Australian army medical service member.

WE RECOMMEND

EVERETT B. WELLS

Republican Candidate

For County Treasurer

We know that Everett Wells is qualified for the office of County Treasurer of Delta County. We know him personally, for we worked with him for years when he was in charge of flooring shipments at the I. Stephenson Co. . . now the Shepeck Dimension & Lumber Co. We were really sorry when serious illness forced him to leave his work. Now that he is again able to do the kind of work that does not require physical strain, we hope he will be elected County Treasurer. We know he'll do a good job and will devote his full time to the duties of this office.

WAS IT TRICKERY OR IGNORANCE?

TO THE VOTERS OF DELTA COUNTY:

Clyde McGonagle, your Prosecutor, now in the Navy, is a candidate for re-election. The duties of his office as Prosecutor have been and are being cared for by me, as Acting Prosecutor, under court order made by Circuit Judge Bell, on the recommendation of Mr. McGonagle. He did not resign, but merely took a leave of absence for military service.

His opponent complains that McGonagle, a Democrat, should have recommended the opponent, a Republican, because of their intimate friendship.

Politics are not handled that way. McGonagle could not recommend a Republican if a Democrat was available. Neither the Democratic voters of the County, nor the Democratic County Committee, would stand for such a thing.

Still alleging his friendship with a sweeping gesture, Mr. McGonagle's opponent has made four different promises to the voters of Delta County, that if elected, he would, upon Mr. McGonagle's WRITTEN application, return the job to him.

First, the opponent said he would do this "immediately" upon Mr. McGonagle's return. Second, he said he would do this "during the opponent's first term." Finally, he said he would do it "after the duration."

Then he cancels all these promises, admitting his error as to the law, and that he had no power to give or return the job to, or appoint McGonagle as his successor.

Now he revises the promise, in his attempt to influence the voters against his friend, Mr. McGonagle. Now he says he will appoint Mr. McGonagle as his ASSISTANT.

As a lawyer, this Republican candidate must know that under the law he cannot appoint an assistant, without the consent and approval of the Board of Supervisors and the Circuit Judge. If he admits his error on this point, he must admit further that his latest promise is as empty as his first. It is a tricky offer to the voters. It is a promise of a job, a thing of value, which is prohibited by the law.

The ONLY WAY TO RETAIN THE OFFICE OF PROSECUTOR FOR CLYDE MCGONAGLE IS TO RE-ELECT HIM, and permit the Acting Prosecutor appointed by the court to perform the duties of the office until Clyde returns. Neither he nor the voters can depend upon void, illegal, or empty promises, designed merely to fool the unsuspecting voter. It may be "clever" politics, but it is equally dishonest. Be sure you are not tricked. VOTE FOR J. CLYDE MCGONAGLE for Prosecutor on the Democratic Ticket.

Respectfully,

KIRKENES WAS IRON ORE PORT

Nazis Used It As Base Against Arctic Shipping

Kirkenes, Arctic port of Norway taken by the Soviet forces, is normally a small but important Norwegian seaport, says the National Geographic Society. It is situated in far northeastern Norway above the Arctic Circle, at a point where several inlets cut the southern shores of Varangerfjord. It has been used by the Nazis to harass Russia-bound shipments of war materials from America and England.

The former Finnish border, now Russian by reason of the recently ceded area of Petsamo, is less than four miles inland. Finland's one-time nickel-shipping Petsamo port is 30 air miles to the southeast, while Murmansk, vital Arctic receiving station for Soviet supplies, is only 60 miles farther to the southeast.

Outlet for Iron Ore
Kirkenes was not just a fishing village like many other settlements in this Arctic region. It was an export center with processing and shipping facilities for the considerable iron ore produced in the neighborhood. In peacetime, some 400,000 tons of iron ore annually were exported to Germany, England, Belgium, and Luxembourg. With the occupation of Norway, the Germans took the iron mines over. Most of the town's 4,000 prewar inhabitants made their living in the smelting works in which the iron ore was partially processed before export. Today, according to recent information, only 400 civilians remain in Kirkenes. The town largely of wooden construction, is believed to have been practically destroyed by bombs.

Kirkenes has been especially useful to the Nazis, both as a transshipment center for men and supplies and as a base for attacks on the Murmansk supply route. German airfields, barracks, and depots were built, as well as camps for prisoners of war and others detailed there for work on German installations, loading and unloading ships, and other compulsory labor.

Has Long Daylight
Summer and winter, the Kirkenes base favored German attacks on Arctic shipping. The summer months offered long hours of daylight visibility, while the winter season limited passage lanes available to the convoys.

Like other Norwegian ports, Kirkenes harbor is open the year around, the result of the warming effects of the part of the Gulf Stream which flows north of Norway. For special freezes a combination tug and icebreaker was stationed there.

Back of Kirkenes stretches Norway's share of the vast Arctic region popularly known as Lapland. This northeast province of Norway is named Finnmark after the Lapps, who originally came from the east and were called Finns by the Norwegian.

Finnmark, from its bare, gray, and rocky coast, spreads inland into rolling country of lakes and pine forests. There are less than three persons to each square mile in this area. They make their living chiefly by fishing and hunting, and caring for their reindeer herds which provide food, clothing, and transportation. Their homeland is one where harsh winter climate is compensated by magnificent sky effects and a short but intensive summer season when vegetation springs up far beyond its capacities in milder regions. In winter, temperature in Finnmark may sink to 49 degrees Fahrenheit below zero.

P. T. A. Fall Festival

Chatham—About 350 persons attended the fall festival sponsored by the PTA at the Chatham Hippodrome Friday evening October 27. School pupils came in costumes. Prizes were awarded for the prettiest and funniest costumes by the judges Mrs. Carl Cristoferson, Miss Phyllis Erickson, and Mrs. Fred Lemm. The following persons received prizes: Janet Lindquist, Gerald Sturdivant, Mildred Richmond, George McIntyre, Alice Mikulich, Tillie Bartol, Amy Knaus and George Nickle. Guest prizes went to Miss Thelma Sundberg and Toivo Kallio. Proceeds from the baked goods and garden produce sale totaled $67. A gift of $25 was presented to the PTA by one member. Music for dancing was supplied by Willie Rajala. Games for school children were supervised by Misses Thelma Sundberg and Marian Niskern. At the close of the evening soft drinks, coffee and doughnuts were served.

Old Orchard Farm

First Milking Shorthorn Heifer Calf Arrives

There's a lusty young lass out at Old Orchard farm who slurs her "He" and even bawls with a slight Cockney accent. She's a blue blooded young Milking Shorthorn, whose ancestors settled in America centuries ago and by every right this newcomer should be thoroughly Americanized by this time. The stable gossip is that she's just "putting on."

This new heifer calf is the first born of Pearl Clay, who came to Old Orchard in late summer, from the stockfarm of W. B. Speyer, who owns one of the outstanding Milking Shorthorn herds in Michigan. A half sister of Pearl Clay, Bonnie Joy brought her week old heifer calf with her when she arrived, so now, out at the Daily Press experimental farm, there are two blue blooded misses in adjoining pens, bound together by both a close maternal relationship and joined further by a hereditary milk and beef breeding line that is comparatively new in this section, but old in the dairy and beef industry of the nation. The new calf was the biggest ever born at Old Orchard, tipping the scales at an even hundred pounds, and gives every promise of developing into a true specimen of the Milking Shorthorns.

And this calf, not because she developed unusual idiosyncrasies in the first few days of her life, but because the farm manager likes to experiment, maybe for the benefit of both himself and other farmers, is going to be raised by a different program than has ever before been tried at Old Orchard. In the past Old Orchard's calves have been raised on milk and oatmeal. Perfectly satisfactory results have been achieved by that feeding plan and the new calf's half sister will be a milk and oatmeal heifer, when she develops to that stage, but the new calf is to be raised according to a program advocated by one of the leading national feed manufacturing concerns. Her pen has been cleaned and sterilized and fumigated; her feed trough is just so many inches from the floor and her waterail and hay are likewise, specifically located. She is to be fed a varying amount of milk along with a special calf starting ration for a period of four weeks and then will have to get along without milk, for the remainder of her babyhood days. Great things are claimed for this feeding program and Old Orchard's manager is willing to be shown—but he will still have his eye on that calf in the adjoining pen, so that comparisons will not be hard to make and the results fairly judged.

Enjoying Fine Weather
Again the weatherman was most kind for most of last week, to Old Orchard farm and all of the farmers in that area. Interrupted only by a single half day shower, the corn husking crew wound up their job on Friday morning and by the close of the week most of the husked grain was under cover in the corncrib. Critical observers may note that all of this year's corn crop is housed in a single crib—not "cribs," as in other years. But the crop that was so badly damaged by a long summer drought, will furnish a lot of feed for Old Orchard livestock, through the long winter weeks that lie ahead—but it's going to be fed sparingly—not with the lavish hand of former years.

This week Old Orchard's crew, with favorable weather conditions continuing, will endeavor to get the crop of corn stalks shredded, in a stack in the barn yard and complete, as nearly as possible, most of the remaining field jobs of the season.

Old Orchard will be sending to the market soon, not only some more fat hogs, but a load of fat lambs, that have been in the "readying" stage for the past few weeks. When the last of the hogs are moved Old Orchard's livestock shipping will be closed for 1944.

Ring, the farm dog, has enjoyed the fine stretch of weather with which this district has been favored, in full measure with the humans out at Old Orchard. He makes his daily tours over every part of the farm, visiting his new and old cronies in the fields and when night comes he has worked as hard as any hand on the farm.

Fixings Are Short For 1944 Turkeys

New York (AP)—Cranberry sauce will garnish every G. I. turkey this Thanksgiving, but because of weather damage to the cranberry crop, supplies will not go as far as usual around the civilian dinner table, according to a distributor of this holiday delicacy.

"A single spring freeze which hit New England cranberry bogs on the night of May 18-19 may have accounted for the reduced output," says Harvey A. Baum, head of produce-buying operations for the A. & P. Food Stores. "The lengthy summer drought also took a toll in other sections of the country."

Dried-Up Streams Reveal History

By Fern Berry

Van Meer—What happens when a stream just stops being a stream and becomes a dry bed of rock and humus and dying water foliage? On the first day of November the writer started out to hike along a small stream near her home, but when she came to the stream it wasn't there at all. So, accompanied by the two terriers, Dolly and Molly we investigated. For rods and rods we walked over the rough stream bed and here we found many things of interest. The stream, only a tiny rivulet, really, passes over a layer of grey sand or lime stone. This stone shows in the layers, evidence of having been here many, many years for there are ferns, strange insects and worms in a history written upon these tables of rock. One layer had worn so thin that a hole had worn through it. The action of the swift little stream had done this work. We picked it up and since the edges were knife-sharp, we ran a stout stick through it for carrying. Larger than a big platter, it will add something to the flag stone walk we are planning to make. Here and there the out-cropping of the rock along the dry stream showed den-like cavities which, in Lower Michigan would surely be inhabited by mink or at least, visited by these animals. Rock ferns and moss clung to the rocks and were still green and fresh looking. A spike of scarlet berries from Jack-in-the-pulpit leaned over, making a bright bit of color against the grey rock.

After we had walked for rods and rods we noted a small pool and then another and before long, there was the stream again. It had widened and deepened near the upper end and here were pools of dark water, natural bridges of rock and fallen logs, half choked by fallen leaves, the stream bubbled away merrily. In the dry portion, Molly who is blind in one eye, but who has a remarkable sense of smell, showed us where a "deep" pool had been and there were a half dozen minnows buried under the leaves. They had been dead for some time but we were able to identify the larger one as a brook trout. It was about three inches in length. Small fish come into the stream from the larger creeks, during high water and when, as happens in October, the lower part of the stream dries up, these fish are killed off, adding a leaflet to that great book of Mother Nature's making. For mostly they become firmly pressed into a layer of slime and leaves and rock.

The little stream, near the upper end, lives on through the winter, its pools frozen and its banks over-hanging with snow. In the spring the melting snows send it to rushing along over the rocky bed, and it flows merrily along until Autumn, when despite rainfall, the lower end dries up. Why is this true? It happens to many a small stream in Michigan.

Sgt. Ted S. Ludick, serving with the armed services in Italy, and connected with the army air corps, has been overseas for two years. He is the son of Joseph Ludick of Gladstone, and a brother of Mrs. Matt Bell of Trautman.

In a letter to his folks dated Oct. 15, Sgt. Ludick writes in part as follows:

"I believe it is time that I write a few lines to let you know that I'm still in this war and kept very busy. I am in excellent health and no matter where I am now I'm always thinking of how nice it is back home this time of the year. I have reasons to believe that I'll be spending this Christmas over here in some damned hole. It's not my choice. Everyone in the States should write their congressmen to have them keep pressing the subject of having the boys with two years or more overseas return. There are enough soldiers in the states moving around on furloughs who could take our places now."

"I've made several flights to France and have found the country very beautiful, especially southern France. No matter where we go it is the same old thing in the stores. They never fail to charge us three or four times the amount that an article is worth. The G. I. is sure made a sucker."

Sgt. Ludick has two brothers in the service, both overseas. T/S. William C. Ludick is in France and has been on overseas duty for the past two and one half years. S/Sgt. Albert Ludick has been in France for one year.

Lt. Cmdr. M. H. Johnson, U. S. Navy, has arrived safely in the Northwest Pacific, according to word received here by the J. A. LaFramboises.

An Open Letter

Manistique, Michigan,
November 1, 1944.
To the Hon. Henry A. Wallace,
Vice Pres. of the United States
Sir:

Let's be honest with the people. If Roosevelt is indispensable and if all power should be centralized in Washington; if we are to have a "Century of Common Men" with a few Political Overlords; if, instead of the countless freedoms we Americans have always enjoyed and taken for granted we are now to have just four and no more; if the future of two billions of people and the destiny of Man-kind depends on just three men; if we are to be cradled, coddled, and looked after from womb to tomb by an all wise government; if we are to be a nation of rationed numbers instead of individuals; if the government is to guarantee us all "a more abundant life" with no responsibilities of our own except to vote right and enjoy ourselves in beer taverns; if it is the government's business to make private business good even to the neglect of its own business and the national defense; if bankers and business men are to be simply government clerks; if "producers" are to be "assured of fair profits" at all times regardless of consumers' needs; if great and necessary profitable Public Projects are to be treated as political "party" footballs rather than as big business enterprises; if government debt doesn't mean anything because "we owe it to ourselves don't we?" (if that theory is sound, then why worry about the rising prices of goods? We pay them ourselves don't we?); if centralized power in the hands of one man whose personal decree is the law is best; if the Communists, Nazis, Fascists, Socialists, Monarchists, the name doesn't matter because they all add up to one man; government—are right, then let's have it that way, but let's stop calling it Democracy, because it is just the opposite of Democracy.

There never was an administration which talked Democracy and Freedom as much as this one has, or which did so much to destroy Democracy and Freedom. Every "decree" and every demand for more and more and more and still more power is in the name of "Democracy" or to "save democracy." Let's stop deceiving the people by sailing under false colors.

If this super super one man party government is so mighty that we can continue to be an isolationist nation by barring out all immigration, and at the same time strip our shelves to arm and teach other nations who outnumber us nineteen to one, all we know about mass production, big machinery and the arts of war; if we can continue to be isolationists by shutting out all "foreigners" and living to ourselves in this big free open "Gawd's Country," at the same time sending our young folks over to teach them the good American "way of life" and to see that "never again shall any bad man rise to power" in any of those overcrowded countries to threaten our peace; if this super super one man party government is so great that it's President can leave the country and travel half around the world to sit on the doorstep of a foreign ruler without our losing dignity and face in the eyes of the rest of the world which outnumber us nineteen to one, and—

If we are now to leave a century of uncommon men who created immense wealth and a high standard of living for all of us, and to enter a "century of common men" in which the poor man can be consoled by the assurance that from now on nobody shall be allowed to become rich; then at least let us do it with our eyes open.

If Washington, Franklin, Jefferson and the rest were all wrong when they decentralized government power and established the American Republic and Individual Freedom under the real New Deal of 1776, the only New Deal we have ever had, under which in 150 years, free individuals made a greater advancement in every field than all mankind had been able to do in 6000 years of recorded history under centralized political power and control; if Washington, Jefferson and the others were all wrong and old fashioned, and if the American Constitution which Glaxton, perhaps the most able statesman England ever produced, pronounced as the "greatest document ever conceived by the mind of man," belongs to the "horse and buggy age," then let's junk the American Idea—the real New Deal of 1776—and go back to the idea of an all powerful centralized government, call it Communism, Nazism, Fascism, Socialism, Despotism, Dictatorship, or any other name you like for a one man government, but for Heaven's sake let's do it honestly and stop telling the people it is for Democracy and Freedom.

If the proponents of centralized political power really believe in their cause, they ought to be able to make a case for it on its own merits, instead of continually camouflaging it under the name of Democracy or New Deal, because it certainly is not Democracy, and there is nothing new about it. It is the very antithesis of Democracy, and nearly all the ideas which the "bright" young men used in fashioning this marvelous contraption they call a New Deal can be found in the scrap heaps of civilization and the dusty and moth eaten attic of antiquity. Respectfully,
W. M. S. CROWE.

Local Registration
Indicates Large Vote

That Manistique and Schoolcraft county will cast the heaviest vote in its history is indicated by the fact that local registration is at least two hundred more than the previous high registration of four years ago. Registration for the city is 2,850, an increase of 186 new registrants since early summer. There have been a few cancellations by voters who have taken up residence elsewhere and a few deaths since that time, but these have been comparatively few. Alex Robertson, city clerk, reveals.

The number of absent voters ballots sent out, has also reached an unprecedented high. Mr. Robertson states, up to Saturday afternoon the requests for these ballots totalled 340, with 37 of these requests coming from the first precinct, 77 from the second, 97 from the third, and 129 from the fourth. It is likely that this number will be increased, because requests will be honored up to late Monday afternoon. Of this number 190 are votes of men in the service. A few, also are people who are confined in hospitals and the rest are people who for business or other reasons find it impossible to be at home to vote. The average number of absent voters ballots issued in past years seldom has exceeded twenty-five or thirty.

It is generally accepted that the unusually hot national campaign is responsible for this indication of a heavy vote. State and county candidacies have been submerged in the pros and cons arising out of President Roosevelt's bid for a fourth term and Governor Dewey's challenge.

There are two local contests, however, which because of a close vote in the primaries, have caused much speculation at this time. John M. Hewitt, incumbent, is being opposed by George Bergman, who is conducting a slip campaign; and John J. Hruska, probate judge, is opposed by Joseph A. Mercier.

Bergman lost the Republican nomination to Hewitt by a very small margin in the primaries and in the July vote for probate judge, Hruska received 670 votes to 617 for Mercier.

There has been very little campaigning for state offices in this area. Governor Harry F. Kelly made an unscheduled stop here early last month, conferring with local party leaders, and Herman Dignan, GOP candidate for secretary of state, and D. Hale Brake, present state treasurer seeking re-

Stages Realistic
Campaign

"We must continue in office a man who has the necessary experience." "Two terms as president are enough—three terms too many. Four terms, a national calamity!"

Campaign oratory, replete with all the hectic phraseology of the current campaign and uttered with a sincerity of which only young folks are capable, has been ringing at stated intervals at Manistique high school as a prelude to the school's vote Tuesday in a general election of its own.

The campaign and the election are a part of the activities of the high school's class in American history of which Miss Elizabeth Falk is the teacher. The purpose, according to Miss Falk, is to acquaint the students with this very important phase of citizenship.

Election will be held Tuesday morning from 8 o'clock to 11:45 and the students are to vote during their free period.

At the political rally, staged at the school auditorium Friday afternoon, the following program was presented:

Residents of Schoolcraft county will be asked to subscribe a $308,000 quota in the Sixth War Loan drive which opens Monday, November 20, Fred H. Hahne chairman of the county war finance committee announces.

The quota for individual purchases has been set at $167,000 of which $104,000 represents the E. bond goal. The corporation quota is $141,000.

The drive is scheduled to close December 16, but all bonds clearing the Federal Reserve Bank during November and December will be credited to the current drive. Mr. Hahne has been assured.

Plans for the conduct of the campaign were worked out at a meeting held Saturday in Marquette which was attended by several members of the local War Finance committee. Those who made the trip will, in turn, make known these plans at a meeting of volunteer workers to be held in Manistique in the near future.

Members of the local committee are: Mr. Hahne, chairman, Charles D. Manson, city chairman; Dave Cooper, labor; C. E. Leonard, retail; Joseph L. Heiman, agriculture; W. J. Shinar, banking; Gordon Hughes and William Corson, industry, and A. F. Hall, schools.

In a recent telegram to Mr. Hahne, Frank N. Isbey, chairman of the Michigan War Finance committee, stated: "This will be the hardest job we have yet tackled, and will take the combined efforts of all to assure success."

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

Sharing the seat with me on the bus from Duluth the other evening, was an Indian lad who had recently received his medical discharge from the armed service and was on his way to his home in Lower Michigan. He had been in the Tunisian campaign in North Africa and was banged up pretty badly—a fact which was borne out by his discharge papers. Naturally, he was tickled pink at the prospect of getting home.

What he had seen, of course, was part of the conversation. "I used to think that some of my Indian people lived in rather frosty style," he said, "but I guess even the worst of them are pretty well civilized at that—anyway, that's the way I came to feel after seeing how those North African natives lived." Then he went on to tell that all these natives had for shelter were some pieces of filthy cloth sewed together—sometimes a few stray pieces of board or tin roofing—set up on poles. Under this, the family and their livestock—usually a donkey, a couple of goats and three or four chickens—would make their home. When living conditions got too bad they just moved—"a little bit."

I commented on his discharge pay, saying that it was quite a contrast with the sixty bucks we old timers got when we were turned loose. He shrugged his shoulders and grimaced a bit ruefully. "They only let you have a small chunk at a time," he said.

And once more I am convinced that our Uncle Sam has a much more fatherly interest in his boys today than he had in the last fracas. This Indian lad may not realize it now, but he will in time come to know that the piece-meal of his discharge pay was a big favor.

Farmers of Schoolcraft county did a very commendable thing, the other day, when they resolved, at their annual conference with the county agent, that this area's agricultural advantages be presented without any of the frills and ballyhoo that farm land promoters often use so effectively.

This action was taken in deference to the thousands of young men in the service who are looking forward to the day when they will be free to return to peacetime pursuits. Many of these boys, in spite of the fact that they wouldn't know a potato digger from a binder, are counting on taking up farming. They have heard their farmer comrades speak longingly of butter fresh from the churn, home cured ham, fresh eggs, thick cream, new potatoes etc., and its a prospect which few of them, fed up as they are with army life, can resist. Many of them have heard about the low priced land in this area and its unsurpassed advantages for those who like to hunt and fish. It sounds mighty good!

Schoolcraft county farmers know, however, that the number of times the average tiller of the soil may knock off for the day and go fishing are few and far between. Farming—especially in this neck of the woods—is a very serious business. There are good returns to be had, but they can be achieved only through unremitting hard work, and even then, tillage will be of little avail if one is without the very necessary experience. It takes years to develop a farm to where it will provide a better than average living.

So, while Schoolcraft county farmers are perfectly willing and anxious to extend the glad hand to returning veterans, they feel that they wouldn't be shooting square with them if they didn't present local farm facts in an honest and straight-forward way.

Manistique seems to be singularly blessed with good post war prospects. Local industries, it appears, will expand rather than shrink when the war comes to an end. But if this is true, the powers that be would do well to devote much more serious thought than is apparent at this time, to the city's housing situation. IT'S BAD!

To The Voters of Schoolcraft County

I am again a candidate for the office of Judge of Probate of Schoolcraft County on the Non-Partisan ticket at the general election to be held November 7th, and respectfully solicit your support at the polls.

I have held this office for the past 8 years, and am thoroughly familiar with its administration and the most practical methods of handling matters which come before such a court. Every case that has come before me has been given the best consideration and thought possible, and every effort made to settle it justly.

The duties of the judge of probate are becoming of increasing importance to the people, and I hope they will feel that my years of experience and service will be of value to them.

Vote the Non-Partisan ballot on November 7. Thank you.

Eskymos Knock Gladstone Out Of U. P. Football Race, 19 To 6

WICKHOLM IS SCORING ACE

Escanaba Capitalizes On Two Breaks To Gain Victory

Capitalizing on two breaks, the Escanaba high school football team knocked the Gladstone Braves out of the race for peninsula football championship honors at Marble athletic field yesterday afternoon, 19 to 6. The game was played in cold weather and with occasional snow flurries before a capacity crowd of fans.

After each team had scored a touchdown in the opening quarter on long drives all the way down the field, the Eskymos repeated in the second period with a touchdown drive from the 25 yard line, where they recovered a Gladstone fumble. The third Eskymo score was chalked up in the third period on a similar situation, the Eskymos again gaining position by recovering a Gladstone fumble.

The Eskymos started their first touchdown drive from their own 22 yard line, where Kallman's long punt was downed. With Wickholm leading the drive, Escanaba advanced to the Gladstone 38 and then Peterson passed to Goymereac for a first down on the 27. Wickholm picked an opening for eight more and then Schils swung 17 yards on a reverse before he was brought down on the two yard line. Wickholm scored on the next play and Scott kicked the goal.

Scott's kickoff went out of bounds and the Braves took over on their 40. Sigan and Lundmark made a first down on the Escanaba 46, and Lundmark followed with a 22 yard sprint to the 24 yard stripe. Sigan picked up 12 more on a line play and then Legault scored from the 12 yard line. Lundmark's kick was low and the Eskymos were still in front, 7 to 6.

Wickholm Scores Again
Early in the second period, Peterson punted into the end zone and on the next play Legault fumbled, the Eskymos recovering on the 25 yard line. Wickholm gained five yards and then Peterson passed to Goymereac for a first down on the six yard line. Wickholm broke through right tackle on a spinner for a touchdown and Scott's kick for the extra point was blocked.

The Eskymos made a deep penetration into Gladstone territory that was contributory in setting up the third touchdown. After advancing to the Gladstone 15 yard line, the Eskymos were smeared back to their 31 yard line and finally forced to yield the ball on downs, but not before Schelbner advanced back to the 14 on a pass. Legault made 14 yards for Gladstone on the first play but Kallman fumbled on the next play, the Eskymos recovering. Peterson passed to Schils for a first down on the five yard line and Wickholm scored on three plays. Scott's kick was blocked.

Escanaba had one more scoring opportunity in the fourth quarter but lost it quickly. On an exchange of punts, Escanaba got possession of the ball on the Gladstone 20 yard line but Scott fumbled and Gladstone recovered on the 25.

Another exchange of punts followed in which the Braves gained sharply, getting possession on the Escanaba 43 yard line. They advanced to the 32 and then Sigan tossed a perfect touchdown pass into the hands of Kinziger, end, but Kinziger, standing in the end zone, dropped the ball. That marked the end of the scoring threats for the day.

The Eskymos gained 140 yards on running plays and 67 on passes, making 13 first downs, all earned except one gained on a penalty. Gladstone gained 118 yards net on running plays and only four yards on a pass. The Braves made five first downs.

Ned Day Chosen As "Bowler Of Year"

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP) — Ned Day, West Allis, Wis. was named "Bowler of the year" for the second straight year by the National Bowling Writers' association.

Day, who regained the world's individual match game championship in December, received 133 votes in an association nation-wide poll. Second place went to Buddy Bomar, of Chicago, and other leaders were Paul Krumsac, Chicago, third; and Ed Winchester, Philadelphia, fourth.

Detroiters who received votes in the poll were Fred Bujaci, 62; John Crimmins, 50; Bill Kenet, 46; Joe Norris and Wally Reppenhagen, 3; and Therman Givson, 1. Honorable mention was given to Chet Bukowski and John Small, both of Detroit.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Will there be another "czar of baseball" when Judge Landis is re-elected as commissioner, probably within the coming year? Baseball men in the know contend that the baseball no longer needs an absolute ruler since Landis has restored the game to national dignity and esteem and that a three-man commission will probably be appointed to succeed Landis. The three men probably will be Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary-treasurer of the commissioner's office; Ford Frick, president of the National league; and William Harbridge, president of the American league. Landis will be 78 years old this month and is in ailing health.

The attitude of Landis on farm clubs has been particularly disturbing to many of the big league club owners. That is why the appointment of another "czar" and particularly the appointment of O'Connor—Landis' choice—as absolute ruler of baseball will be keenly fought if and when Landis turns in his resignation. The club owners feel O'Connor would be sure to maintain Landis' policy on the farm club system which the commissioner has long opposed. Many club owners now feel that baseball will need less policing and more promotion after the war.

The winners of the recent election for membership on the upper peninsula athletic council are expected to be announced within several days. The deadline for ballots was yesterday, Nov. 4. Leo Brunelle of Stephenson was a candidate for the coaches' representative of the council, trying to unseat Eddie Chambers, the incumbent. George Weingartner of Rock was a candidate for the Class D representative on the council. The incumbent for that position is Joseph Gucky who became ineligible when he shifted from Harris, a Class D school, to Stephenson, in Class C. The council formulates athletic policy for upper peninsula high schools.

A sellout crowd of 45,000 will see the Packers and Bears collide at Wrigley Field this afternoon, compared with the sellout crowd of 25,000 that attended the Packers-Bears game at Green Bay this season. Which explains why the Bears are growing over limited seating capacity at City Stadium in Green Bay. Sid Luckman will be in the Bears' lineup again today.

When the Chicago Bears asked for a telephone in the press box for their game at Green Bay, they got it. But when Curly Lambeau asked for a telephone to be used in today's game at Wrigley field, the Bears obliged by installing the connection behind the goal posts in the 40 cent seats. "Typical Bear hospitality," the Packer coach growled.

SPARTANS DROP 13-7 DECISION

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 4 (AP)—Missouri university Tigers spoiled the unbeaten and untied football record of Michigan State here this afternoon by charging to two second half touchdowns after they had trailed the Spartans 7-0 at the half. The final score was Michigan State 7, Missouri 13.

Sparked by Robert Hopkins, substituting for the Tigers' star runner, Bill Dellastatus, the Missourians scored without losing the ball after the second half kick off. Paul Collins, quarterback, went over for the first Tiger touchdown to culminate a 60-yard drive. Jim Kekeris, 272 pound Missouri tackle, missed his placement for the extra point.

Undismayed at failing to tie the score, the Tigers continued to out-play the Spartans and early in the fourth quarter drove to the deciding touchdown. A pass intercepted by Max Riley, Missouri fullback, set the stage for the second drive which began on the Missouri 35-yard line.

Tigers Come Back
Collins passed to Bob Egleberger, Tiger end, for 24 yards to take the ball to the Spartan 26. From this point Collins broke loose on a 13-yard jaunt to take the pig skin to the 13 and a series of short gains took the ball to the 1-foot line where Collins again worked the quarterback sneak for the score. This time Kekeris' placement sailed through for the added point.

Bill Dellastatus, star Tiger halfback who carried the brunt of the Missouri attack in the first half, was injured two plays before the midway gun and failed to get back in the ball game. Hopkins, however, proved an able substitute and repeatedly tore through the Spartan defense for sizable gains. His running, together with heads up play by Paul Collins, proved the spark that set off the Tiger dynamite.

The Spartans failed to threaten at any time after the second quarter. Both the Tigers and their visitors threw long, desperate aerials, trying to detour around the tough action in the line and around the ends.

Fullback Jack Breslin was the most consistent ground gainer for the Spartans, besides doing his team's punting and passing.

NAVY CRUSHES IRISH EASILY

Notre Dame Swamped In 32-13 Decision At Baltimore

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—Fury engendered by eight years of frustration would not be denied today as the Navy football team, a big, tough and power-laden machine, crushed the hitherto undefeated Notre Dame eleven, 32 to 13, in a game which kept an estimated capacity crowd of 67,000 in Municipal stadium in various stages of emotion for the full 60 minutes.

The Middies, who sputtered and wheezed in early season games, were supposed to have exploded in smothering Penn a week ago, but that was only the pop of a cork compared with the blast they loosed against the ever-trying but thoroughly outplayed Irish.

Not that the Navy followers were without their anxious moments. For the first few minutes it seemed the proverbial luck of the Irish hovered over the field this hazy day. It was only a mirage, however, and once the Navy power had begun to exert itself, there seemed little doubt of the outcome save in the final half when Notre Dame at times threatened to pass its way into one of its traditional belated victories.

Navy Gets Score
The Middies scored twice in the first period and again in the third before the thwarted Irish could push across a counter. Navy came right back with another touchdown in the fourth, saw the Irish match that, then powered across one more to put the game safely away.

It was power, power and more power that humbled the Irish. On offense it mattered not which backs of the horde on the Middle bench were in the game. They slashed and bulled and tore through the valiant Irish defense as a knife through tissue paper.

On defense, the big line rolled in like a gale-whipped sea to crush and shatter the Notre Dame runners, and in sheer desperation the Irish took to the air, often passing from deep in their own territory to thwart that ever-rushing line.

The big score for Navy fans came shortly after the opening kickoff when Bill Barron fumbled an Irish punt on the Navy 18, and the Irish recovered. They advanced to the one, but their luck ran out and a five-yard penalty killed the scoring chance.

It was not until the last three minutes of the period that the real Navy power began to show. The Middies marched 45 yards for their first score, Clyde Scott, an omnipresent lad who appropriately hails from Smackover, Ark., smacked over from the five-yard line. Three minutes later he did the same thing to climax a 44-yard march.

The Irish, after that first violent threat, were smothered at

PENN ROUTED BY WOLVERINES

Michigan Scores 41-19 Victory In Inter-sectional Game

BY FRANK KENESSON
Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—A devastating University of Michigan offense hammered across five touchdowns in the first half today, enabling Wolverine second stringers to see almost two full periods of action as Michigan overpowered Pennsylvania, 41 to 19, in an intersectional football clash before an estimated 48,000 fans.

Right halfback Ralph Chubb of Ann Arbor, replacing the absent Bob Nussbaumer in the Wolverine backfield, dived across from the three-yard line for Michigan's first score in the opening period and galloped 23 yards around his own left end for another touchdown in the fourth. Gene Derricotte and Jack Weisenberger hit the line for two other Michigan scores, and Art Renner counted once on a 47-yard pass play from quarterback Joe Penosetto and end Bruce Hilkene caught a 25-yard pass from Howard Verges for another marker. Penosetto connected on five out of five conversion attempts and the other was missed by Chubb.

Quick Touchdowns
Michigan had everything its own way after a second period that produced four fast touchdowns, three of them in the last four minutes of the half over a span of eight plays. Three intercepted passes set up the sequence of scoring plays, one interception by halfback Warren Bentz, another by fullback Don Lund and the other by center Charles Wahl.

Michigan, reeling off 20 first downs to Penn's eight and 376 yards rushing to the Quakers' net 161, smashed 69 yards on a sustained march the first time it got the ball but Penn stiffened to take the ball on downs on its three-yard line.

After Ed Lawless punted out for Penn, Chubb raced 33 yards with a lateral pass from Penosetto to reach the Quaker six and set up the first score. Getting it himself later from the three-yard line on the same play, Penosetto converted and Michigan led 7 to 0, until the end of the first period.

Derricotte romped 13 yards to the Penn four-yard line on the first play of the second stanza and hit right tackle on the next attempt to make it 13 to 0, climaxing a 35-yard drive. Penosetto again connected.

The Wolverines drove 67 yards a moment later but the drive fizzled on the 13 and Penn again took over on downs. Thereafter Bentz intercepted Tony Minisi's pass on the Quaker 40 and a moment later Penosetto tossed a perfect 36-yard pass to Renner, who took it on the 11 and scored untouched. Penosetto's good left toe made it 21 to 0.

Michigan kicked off and Lund every turn on offense, and even Bob Kelly, a fine back when given half a chance, did well to get to the line of scrimmage.

BOILERMAKERS TRIM BADGERS

BY JIM MITCHELL
Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4 (AP) — Boris (Babe) Dimancheff, 178 pounds of civilian dynamite from Indianapolis, personally conducted Purdue's Boilmakers back into the Western conference win column today by scoring four touchdowns in 51 minutes and pacing the charges of Cecil Isbell to a 35 to 0 triumph over Wisconsin.

Dimancheff's performance—he scored at the end of fums of 14, 66, 32 and 40 yards—was one of the greatest exhibitions of individual brilliance ever staged in Ross-Ade stadium.

The Hoosier Bulgarian, playing at full back in place of the injured Ed Cody, carried the ball 16 times for a total of 140 yards—an average of 8.07 yards a crack.

Harry Stuldreher's Badgers, hurt badly by loss of their passing ace, Earl Girard, via a leg injury in the first ten minutes, never were in the ball game after the initial scoreless quarter. Their offense clicked for an extended march only once—a 63 yard drive in the third period.

Purdue took the lead on the third play of the second quarter as Tackle Peter Barbolak smeared Ted Cox in the Wisconsin end zone for a safety.

Twilight League Supper Tuesday

Kingsford Beats Iron Mountain, 7-0

Iron Mountain, Nov. 4—Kingsford defeated Iron Mountain, 7 to 0, Friday night to maintain an undefeated football record for the season. Edwards scored from the one yard line in the second quarter after Kingsford had marched 60 yards to pay dirt. LeBouef kicked the extra point.

Rock

Rock—The Rock High School carnival was financially the most successful of any previously given by any senior class. After the various games and attractions prepared for the public, a short program of music and short skits was presented in the auditorium. The crowd then proceeded to the Rien-to hall where the carnival queen, Miss Laverne Dyberg, was crowned by Senior Class President Delbert Seppanen. This was followed by the grand march after which dancing completed the evening of entertainment.

The Senior class is now practicing its play "Mama's Baby Boy" to be given the latter part of November.

WAR FUND AT $18,699 MARK

Urge Solicitors To New Effort To Reach $40,000 Goal

Carl Wickman, treasurer of the Delta county War Fund, yesterday reported that a total of $88,699.94 had been turned in by city and township War Fund campaign committees so far in the drive to raise a total of $40,000 for the War Fund and community chest.

While the total is below that of last year at this time, the amounts of the individual contributions are larger than last year, Treasurer Wickman reported. He expressed confidence that when the committees complete their assignments the quota for the county will be reached.

In Escanaba, Chairman Merton Jensen of the War Fund committee is urging solicitors to complete their work by Nov. 9, and turn the funds solicited over to Treasurer Wickman. Disappointment at the failure of some workers to make their solicitations was expressed by Chairman Jensen, although he believes that if there is an effort made the county will reach its quota by Nov. 9.

Gladstone is going forward satisfactorily with its drive, reporting $42,163.30 has been raised of its quota of $7,800. Chairman A. T. Solberg said his community expects to "go over the top" within the next two weeks.

Among the townships, Ensign still continues the first and only one so far to exceed its quota. Bark River township is nearing its $1,250 quota, having turned in a total of $943.07, it was reported by Henry Boyle, chairman.

Bay de Noc township, Andrew Johnson, chairman, reports deposits of $206; the Rev. Fr. Matt Laviolette, chairman of Escanaba township, has deposited $502.25 and expects his township to reach its $700 quota within two weeks.

Dave Phalen, chairman of the Nahma township War Fund drive committee, has deposited $1,200 contributed in that township, and says that contributions have been larger than last year. "A day's pay for the boys away has been our slogan here," he added.

Wells township, which has a quota of $3,000, has so far raised $1,655.76, it was reported by Chairman Lawrence Klug. After consulting his committee members he expressed the opinion that the goal for his township would be reached within another week.

Ford River, Maple Ridge, Masonville, Cornell, Garden and other townships of the county report their committees active, and most War Fund chairmen are confident they will make their quotas. Many of the committee members are making final calls before reporting.

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—Unique punishment for failure to salute an officer was given a McClellan field soldier, who was ordered to take the next bus to town and stay until his pass was up. The usual punishment, restricting a man to the post, wouldn't have worked because the soldier had only gone to town voluntarily once in nearly two years at the field.

Officers Crack Down To Halt "Outlaw" Fishing

In a drive to halt the illegal netting of fish in this area, three men from Garden have been arrested and additional arrests are expected as the investigation continues, it was reported yesterday by D. H. Raess, district supervisor of the Michigan conservation department.

James Tatrow, 48, of Garden, pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of taking lake trout during the closed season and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and spend 30 days in jail. Failing to pay the fine and costs he must serve a total of 60 days in jail.

Trout Season Closed

The season on lake trout is closed from Oct. 9 to Nov. 10, during the period when the fish are spawning.

In a confession signed Oct. 31, Tatrow said that a total of 303 pounds of lake trout had been shipped by him during the closed season to a Chicago fish dealer. Tatrow said that previously he had written the fish company in Chicago to request them to insure checks in payment for fish consigned by "James Myers" to Dighton Tatrow, James Tatrow's brother at Garden.

The trout were shipped under the name of "James Myers" by James Tatrow from Cooks. They were labeled as whitefish. Tatrow is not a licensed commercial fisherman.

Suspicion of the officers was aroused when they found a box of fish bearing the names "James Meyers" on the train at Cooks. No fisherman by that name was known in the vicinity. Opening the box, it was found to contain 115 pounds of lake trout.

Fish Nets Confiscated

The conservation department Patrol Boat No. 1 located and confiscated four boxes of illegal nets on the lake trout spawning grounds at the "Flats" near Portage Bay in Lake Michigan. The mesh was under legal size and there was no identification tag on them, as required by law.

Michigan state police, the Illinois conservation department, the Railway Express company and the Chicago fish dealers cooperated with the Michigan conservation department in the investigation.

As a result of their cooperation it was discovered that other shipments of illegal fish had been made from Garden.

Leo Lester of Garden was arrested for taking pickerel, a game fish closed to commercial netting. In Justice Ranguette's court Thursday he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100 and costs of $9.50. Officers said that he had shipped 200 pounds of pickerel to a Chicago fish dealer Oct. 23.

John Pardee of Garden, charged with the same offense, pleaded not guilty and has his trial set for Nov. 15. He is at liberty on $200 bond. Officers reported he had shipped 200 pounds of pickerel to Chicago Oct. 29.

Thanksgiving Day Is November 23

Washington (AP) — President Roosevelt proclaimed November 23, the fourth Thursday of this month, as Thanksgiving Day, thus following the law enacted by congress Dec. 26, 1941. Five states plan to observe November 30, last Thursday through local choice.

In his annual proclamation, the president called on the nation to read the holy scriptures from Thanksgiving until Christmas in thanking God for restoring freedom to many millions in "this year of liberation" and for the "promise of an enduring peace."

The complication of two Thanksgiving days is continuing this year, despite congressional action to end the Roosevelt experiment of an earlier Thanksgiving started in 1939, because this month has five Thursdays.

Washable leather gloves should be washed on the hands since it is easier to reach the soiled fingertips that way. Water can be pressed out by patting with a dry towel.

Young turkeys do not put on much fat until they are at least 20 weeks old. A good Thanksgiving buy is a tom turkey not much older than 5 months.

News From Men In The Service

Guadalcanal—"The Pride of Escanaba" is the way the comrades of S/Sgt. Ralph D. Ottensman refer to him in an engineer company here.

Sgt. Ottensman quote various statistics to support his assertions.

An ardent hunter and fisherman, Sgt. Ottensman also has many tales to tell of the abundance of game and fish in the "beautiful country and swell streams around Escanaba." Prior to induction in October, 1942, Sgt. Ottensman was employed by The Chatfield Machine and Foundry Co. of Escanaba as a salesman. He is a graduate of Escanaba high school.

Sgt. Ottensman's wife is making her home at 615 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, while her husband is overseas.

Pvt. Edward N. Legault has arrived safely in France, according to word received by his wife, who, with their children, now lives in Marinette. Pvt. Legault, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Legault of 328 South Eighth street, entered the service a year ago in December from Milwaukee. He was in training at Camp Swift, Tex., before his assignment to foreign service.

Pvt. Robert B. Haring, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Haring, Bark River, has arrived in England. He has been serving in the army about two years.

Shells Under Price Control Board Says

Shotgun shells and rifle shells are under price control and all dealers must post at the place where ammunition is sold an authorized list showing the maximum ceiling price per box of each particularly brand, the Delta county war price and rationing board has emphasized.

One important change in the regulations requires a dealer selling in less than box lots to sell single shells or cartridges at the price per box, divided by the number of shells in a complete box.

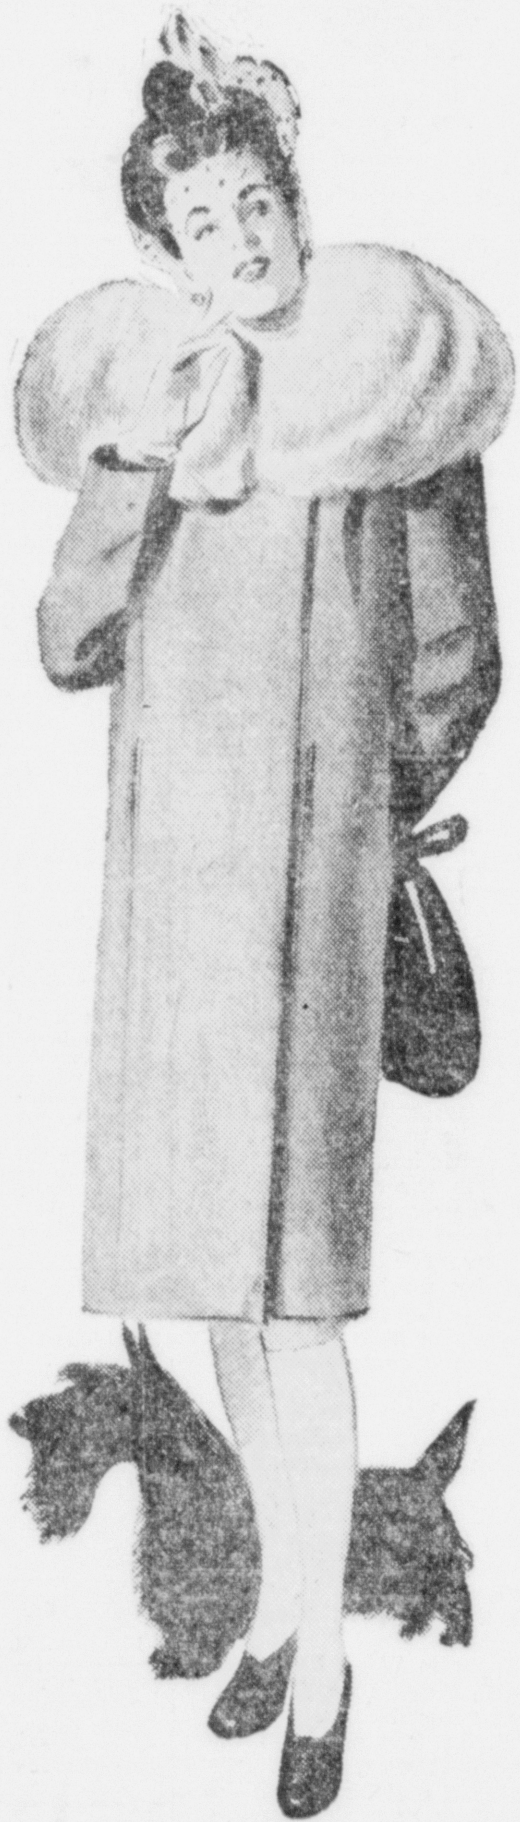

Hunters are asked to report to the local board any dealer who offers shells for sale without having posted an official ceiling price list. Hunters also are requested to obtain receipts for any purchases in which they believe they have been overcharged.

Hunters may obtain the ceiling prices on any type of shell or cartridge by calling or writing their local rationing board.

Lions To Meet In Hermansville

There will be no meeting in Escanaba of the Lions club Monday. Members of the local organization will go to Hermansville to attend a joint meeting with the North Menominee club.

A program has been planned in observation of the North Menominee club's charter anniversary. International Director Ralph Sheehan and District Governor E. A. Bowers, of Pickford will be speakers.

Members of the Escanaba club will meet about six o'clock at the Elks club and will go to Hermansville in a body. Merrill Larson is in charge of local reservations and has asked Escanaba Lions who plan to make the trip to advise him by calling phone 7.
